Aid Program Felt Best Answer to Reds; Nehru Again Scores Pro-West Treaties

Says India Protest on Kashmir Hints His Nation, West Still Apart

By HAROLD K. MILKS
New Delhi, India, March 20 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru again sharply attacked the SEATO and Baghdad pacts today. His strongly worded statement served notice that India and the west are not closer as a result of the western Big Three foreign ministers' recent visit. Nehru disclosed to Parliament that his government has protested formally to the SEATO powers about the mention of Kashmir at the SEATO council meeting in Karachi. Nehru's statement dispelled hopes among western military pacts as a result of the visits this month by U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau.

REPORTING TO Parliament on the three westerners' visits, the prime minister made no mention of Soviet policies except to reiterate that he thought the recent Moscow Communist party Congress represents a new realistic Soviet policy.

When Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev visited here, Nehru signed a joint communiqué with them. There were no such joint statements by the Indian leader and the three western ministers.

Nehru in his report to parliament accused the SEATO powers of taking sides with Pakistan against India in the Kashmir dispute. He asserted the western-sponsored Baghdad pact "is partly responsible for a good deal of the present trouble plaguing west Asia" and charged it "has rent asunder Arab unity."

THE EIGHT FOREIGN ministers at Karachi urged speedy settlement of the Kashmir dispute either by a UN-sponsored plebiscite in the Himalayan state both nations claim or by direct negotiations between the New Delhi and Karachi governments. Pakistan wants the plebiscite held since Kashmir's population—like Pakistan's—is largely Moslem. Nehru opposes the vote.

KASHMIR THE thorniest issue between India and Pakistan, is now divided between an Indian sponsored government and a pro-Pakistani faction.

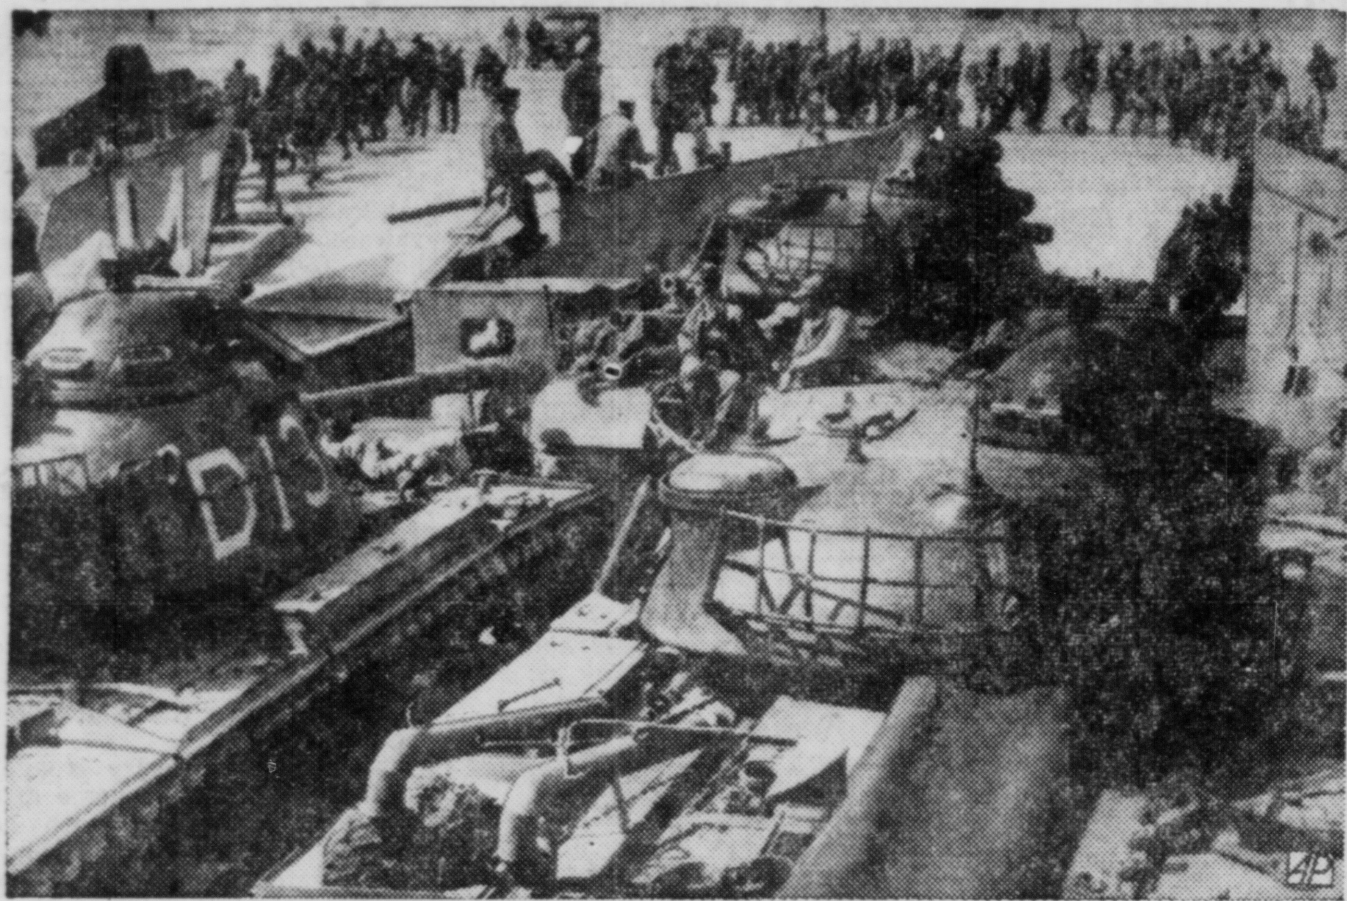

Nehru said the SEATO action on Kashmir meant that a military alliance was actively taking sides on the dispute. He added that it was a special matter of disappointment and regret that three other members of the British Commonwealth—Britain, Australia and New Zealand—were not present.

Spring Comes In With Sunshine
All this talk of spring edging in today, amounts to so many words, as you might have noticed.

Its sunshine was a potential, but it lighted the chilling diaphanous visage of winter, which, say the forecasters, promises at least one more hard grimace before bowing completely out of contact with the new season.

And now, with the cold shoulder of spring at hand, here's what this first, official month of the new season did for a previous lamb-hearted winter:

It gave us 23 of the season's total of 51 inches of snow, and brought the mercury down to points uncomfortably close to zero.

Seitz Declares Joint Project Too Costly to City Downtown Is Still Opposed To Yerry's Housing Tie-in

Downtown residents indicated today that they are still holding firm against any tie-in with a separate public housing project to gain urban redevelopment, and Alfred J. P. Seitz, president of the Rondout Area Business Men's Association, issued a statement in answer to one made for publication yesterday by George E. Yerry, Jr., chairman of the Kingston Housing Authority.

"WE ARE NOT in favor of using a downtown area as a lever for another housing project," Seitz said, and he held that a joint project would be much more costly to the city.

Yerry, in his statement yesterday, said, "assumes to be in possession of all knowledge and information concerning urban renewal, and places his own interpretation upon the provisions made by the federal act, with reference to the possibility of an expenditure by the city of $150,000, if the federal plan is carried through, and with the federal government carrying the balance of the cost."

"THIS IS DONE," he said "without making due allowance for the many facilities in the sixth ward, which can be adapted and used in connection with the new plan, and for which the city will receive credit."

"Over and against this," he noted, "he cites an appropriation by the state for public housing in the sum of $150,000, out of which he expects an allotment sufficient to carry through a new housing development in Kingston."

"WE HAVE ONE housing development in Kingston known as Colonial Gardens, which involved an expenditure in excess of $2,000,000. This was promoted upon the theory that it was going to furnish housing for residents of the so-called downtown section—the sixth ward."

"The sixth ward was used as a means of carrying through the Colonial Gardens development. A check of the former residents of the sixth ward would fail to find any housed in the Colonial Gardens section."

"IT IS NOT the desire of the representatives of the downtown area to see a repetition of this former so-called housing development."

The caucus also elected delegates to the National Convention. Those named were Sharon Mauchs of Cobleskill and George Hawkins of Poughkeepsie. Alternates are James O'Connell of Greene county and Thomas Quinn of Columbia county.

Mr. Di Gennaro has been a practicing attorney in Poughkeepsie for a number of years, was a candidate for member of assembly from Dutchess county at one time and has been a Democratic committeeman and active in Democratic politics in Poughkeepsie and Dutchess county. He is also active in the Poughkeepsie Italian-American Club.

Realtors Point to Opposition On Housing, Answering Yerry

Another statement released today in answer to that of George E. Yerry, Jr., chairman of the Kingston housing, came from the Ulster County Real Estate Board and notes that Kingston voted against "additional subsidized housing" last November.

Benson A. Krom, the board's president, said that in Hurley, where he lives, "our government respects the will of the majority of people."

"We sincerely feel," he said, "that the Kingston officials should take a good look at the vote against additional subsidized housing."

New York Is Hit Hard by 12-Inch Snowstorm

141 Are Dead as Blizzard Clogs 14 Eastern States

(By The Associated Press)
The blizzard-battered northeast fought to dig out from under a crippling mass of snow today on the first day of spring. A blizzard born in West Virginia Sunday petered out on the New England coast today, with the last snowfall forecast for southern Maine.

THE NEW YORK area lay smothered under more than a foot of snow after the storm moved on. The storm followed in the tracks of another blizzard that swept the northeast Friday night. The double assault hit a 14-state area and caused at least 141 deaths, most in traffic accidents or from overexertion in shoveling snow.

The calendar said spring arrives at 10:21 a. m. (EST) but the only sign of the season was bewildered robin or two. The still powerful winter saved its worst for last.

UP TO 20 INCHES of new snow tumbled down on parts of Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut. New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine had less than 10 inches.

Thousands of commuters were stranded, whole communities were isolated and coastal lowlands flooded by high tides. Drifting snow and stalled automobiles blocked roads throughout southern New England.

Rail transportation was limited, and much bus service was at a standstill. Boston's Logan Airport was shut down at least until this afternoon.

NEW JERSEY rural counties and eastern Long Island were buried under huge drifts. A state of emergency was declared in some communities. Transportation was partially paralyzed in hamlet and city alike in the northeast.

A country-like quiet settled over the snow-choked streets of New York.

RAILROADS in the metropolitan area reported some delays. In Massachusetts, Cape Cod suffered the full force of both storms. More than 100 persons were evacuated at Barnstable because of high tides. The islands of Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket were cut off from transportation to the mainland.

Stranded commuters and other travelers bedded down in hotel rooms in many cities rather than fight through drift-blocked suburban roads.

Jackknifed trailer trucks and abandoned cars formed impassable barriers on dozens of highways.

Military, Economic Gains Told Hoover Sees Plan Boosting Allies

Washington, March 20 (AP)—Acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. told Congress today America's economic aid program abroad "is the best answer to new Soviet activities" in that field.

Hoover was the leadoff witness before the House Foreign Affairs Committee on President Eisenhower's $4,859,975,000 foreign aid program for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Hoover said the program had two basic purposes—(1) on the military side, "To make outright aggression unprofitable and thus unlikely"; and, (2) on the economic side, "To promote stability and minimize the threat of subversion."

THE COMMITTEE also asked testimony today from John B. Hollister, head of the International Cooperation Administration (ICA) which handles the foreign aid program.

In a brief statement, Hoover said the aid program will continue to strengthen America's allies, achieve greater flexibility and continuity. He also said it will "continue soundly and affirmatively our economic program, which in itself is the best answer to new Soviet activities."

Hoover emphasized that the program, while $2,200,000,000 more than last year's appropriation of $2,700,000,000 does not contemplate any greater spending rate.

HE SAID THE increase will cover a 2 billion dollar jump in military funds, to order new equipment for delivery in later (Continued on Page 19, Col. 2)

Prudential Agents Here Will Strike if Negotiations Fail

Kingston Prudential District Local 93, Insurance Agents, International Union, AFL-CIO, has voted 25 to 2 to join a nationwide strike against the Prudential Insurance Company of America if present negotiations fail, the Freeman learned today.

According to an Associated Press dispatch, partial returns from about 8,000 agents throughout the United States indicate a 3 to 1 vote for such a strike.

The contract with the company expired last weekend. Negotiations will be resumed tomorrow.

A spokesman for the Kingston union said the local would follow the pattern set by the International.

According to George L. Russ, president of the International Union, the company and union are in substantial agreement on a number of the issues. The major disputes center on grievance procedures, length of contract and continuity of agents sharing premium yields. The union seeks a two year contract and the company a four year agreement.

According to Mr. Russ, Prudential agents average about $125 or $6500 per year. The company has offered additional compensation of about $5 per week, which is not in dispute. (Continued on Page 19, Col. 8)

Snow Crews Are Praised By Executives

The mayor and three executives in city government today were highly complimentary in praising snow removal crews, who worked long, hard hours clearing highways of more than a foot of snow over the weekend.

"Our snow crews did a magnificent job," Mayor Frederick H. Stang said, pointing out that the men spent long, hard hours from the time the blizzard started last Friday until Monday.

The major part of the task was finished today, and main arteries of travel were free of deep snowbanks.

Superintendent Ernest A. Steuding added his compliments to men who worked under Max Oppenheimer, assistant superintendent. "Plowing, sanding and snow removal are big jobs," he said, "but the men accomplished their missions with dispatch."

Fire Chief James Brett sent a letter to the mayor praising him and his forces for an efficient job. The chief's concern was about freeing highways for fire apparatus in case of a fire.

Edmund T. Cloonan, superintendent of the Kingston Water Department, added his praise, and took into consideration work done by his own men, 15 of whom labored many hours, working overtime to clear more than 900 city fire hydrants covered by snow.

Mr. Cloonan said his department appreciated the efforts of Boy Scouts who volunteered to help with hydrant detail.

A special detail of shovelers yesterday made paths from sidewalks to bus stops so riders would not have to climb snowbanks to board vehicles. This service was given on suggestion of Mayor Stang.

Passes Compromise Cut
Albany, N. Y., March 20 (AP)—The Assembly gave final legislative approval today to the "compromise" program for providing "humanizing" tax reductions next year. The legislation was passed unanimously. It won Senate approval last night.

Point where the Scouts will be conducted on a guided tour of the academy and the grounds and also will see the Cadets play one of the regularly scheduled football games is scheduled for September. The district round-up camporee will also be held in September.

In October the District Court of Awards will be slated and in November a good turns event will be staged.

The activity for December will be the annual Christmas party for the district and a winter camporee and Court of Awards will be slated for January.

Rounding out the long range activities program will be the annual observance of Boy Scout Week in February with the Scouts of the district serving in official local government offices for a day. Also part of the program will be the window display contest, a rally and church participation.

YM Schedule Of Activities

Last week seven mothers of the Parents' Club planned, cooked and served the first banquet for the Y boys. Those participating in the undertaking were Mrs. J. O'Connor, Mrs. B. Potter, Mrs. J. Potter, Mrs. K. Bovee, Mrs. A. Fassbender, Mrs. T. Farrell and Mrs. Janescu.

In addition to activities in the gym, swimming, ping pong, small games, crafts, woodwork and others the Y boys now have a new 21-inch television set which was purchased with the money the boys earned over their pledge to World Service.

Easter holiday schedules will be issued to each boy shortly.

The YMCA boys committee met Monday at 4 p.m., to discuss the boys' program. A father and son dinner was discussed at which time trophies will be awarded to tournament winners in the Boys Department.

Shokan

Shokan, March 20—Latest addition to the local population is a son, Kevin Robert, born to Donald and Joan Osgood Monday, March 12 at Kingston Hospital. The Osgoods who came here recently from Louisiana, are occupying one of the Peter Mastro apartments on Route 28.

Sarah Dwyer, reportedly convalescent at a Kingston nursing home following a hospital sojourn, was brought up in the Boiceville hill road section, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Louth whose home lay along the westerly slope of Toran's Hook.

Having a birthday Thursday, March 22 is Mrs. Alfred Didier, Flushing resident who as Lillian Longyear lived here as a girl. She has two daughters and a son who makes his home with his mother.

A total of six organizations are reported to be using the Legion Hall, the former Ashkan schoolhouse.

Mrs. Charles Hesley is again at her West Shokan home after spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. E. MacRoberts, in Arlington, Va. She was Lotie Boice, eldest child of Henry and Ida Boice whose farm home was along the east side creek road to Phenicia.

The big Kingston-Stamford mail truck which generally arrives at the local post office at eight a.m., was more than two hours late Saturday morning due to the storm.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Watson of West Hurley have bought the Longyear place on the old state road and are occupying the premises. The Watsons, who have four children, are acquainted here, having rented one of the Floyd Terwilliger cottages on the mountain road about 20 years ago. The R. W. Longyear place, originally the Ben Winchell farm, now comprises about 10 acres. A building lot was sold to Patrick Kelly of Inwood last year and some of the land had been taken by New York city for reservoir purposes in waterworks day. Edna Longyear has bought a house on Elizabeth street, Kingston.

Harriman Asks Approval to Buy Newburgh Ferry

Albany, N. Y., March 20 (AP)—Gov. Harriman asked the Legislature today in a special message to approve a bill that would permit the State Bridge Authority to buy and operate the Newburgh-Beacon ferry.

The bill authorizes a $550,000 appropriation to be advanced to the Bridge Authority from the capital construction fund.

Harriman said this would permit "the prompt purchase and continuing operation" of the ferry until the proposed Newburgh-Beacon bridge is constructed.

HE SAID negotiations for the purchase of the ferry had been successful and the price tentatively agreed upon. He did not disclose the price.

Any interruption of the ferry service, Harriman told the Legislature, "would seriously disrupt through traffic and local business interests and would leave stranded many persons who depend upon this ferry to commute to and from their place of work."

He added: "When it became apparent last summer that the ferry owners intended to cease operations, I gave assurance that the state would do all in its power, to see that there be not a single day's interruption in the ferry service."

Many Honor Allen

New York, March 20 (AP)—A throng of theatre and broadcasting luminaries jammed St. Malachy's Church today for the funeral of Fred Allen. Police estimated that 1,200 persons, including many standees, crowded within the church on 49th street near Broadway. It is known as "The Actors' Church."

Another 700 persons massed behind police lines out front. A high requiem Mass was offered for the renowned comedian by the Right Rev. Msgr. James B. O'Reilly, pastor. There was no eulogy, but a prayer was offered that Allen would "attain eternal rest and happiness."

Mrs. Charles Hesley is again at her West Shokan home after spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. E. MacRoberts, in Arlington, Va. She was Lotie Boice, eldest child of Henry and Ida Boice whose farm home was along the east side creek road to Phenicia.

$250-Million Bond Issue Proposed For University

Albany, N. Y., March 20 (AP)—A Constitutional amendment to provide for a 250-million-dollar bond issue to build up the State University was introduced by Republican legislative leaders last night.

Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney of the Senate and Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck also introduced a bill to appropriate 12 million dollars from the capital construction fund to prepare building plans.

The University bond plan is being pushed as a Constitutional amendment rather than a proposition, they said, because if it were a proposition it would conflict with the 500-million-dollar highway bond issue recommended by the Diefendorf Commission.

Only one proposition—except for housing issues—may appear on the ballot at the same time.

Since a Constitutional amendment needs the approval of two separate Legislatures before it goes to the people, the university bond issue would not go on the ballot until the fall of 1957, providing it wins legislative approval.

The GOP leaders said the 12-million-dollar outlay would guarantee a quick start on necessary planning for construction.

Contractors Asking Injunction on Pickets

Albany, N. Y., March 20 (AP)—The Champlain Valley Contractors Assn. says it is considering asking the National Labor Relations Board for an injunction against picketing at strikebound construction projects in three northern New York counties.

The association yesterday filed charges of unfair labor practices against Local 186 of the Hod Carriers and Common Laborers Union.

At a hearing before examiner Samuel Hacker of the NLRB, the contractors, contended the strike was illegal. They said the union had violated Taft-Hartley Law provisions requiring that strike notice be given employers and federal and state mediation services.

More than 200 members of the Hod Carriers union struck Friday when contract extensions expired. The union is reported to be seeking an increase of 57½ cents an hour over present base rates ranging from $1.65 to $1.80 an hour.

The contractors reported they had rejected a union demand for retroactive pay.

Projects affected by the strike are in Franklin, Essex and Clinton counties.

Dice Game Raided

Chicago, March 20 (AP)—Detectives broke up a dice game in the sixth floor corridor of the Conrad Hilton Hotel last night and seized seven men. Some 20 other men, identified as delegates to a convention at the hotel, were not arrested. Detectives Edward Kirby and Frank Drew said the convention delegates protested when the officers ordered the group to line up against the wall. "We're here for a convention (The American Society of Tool Engineers)," one of the men told the detectives. "This is a fine way to treat us."

Nehru to Talk With President On July Trip

Washington, March 20 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru of India plans to visit the United States in July for talks with President Eisenhower and other officials, the White House announced today.

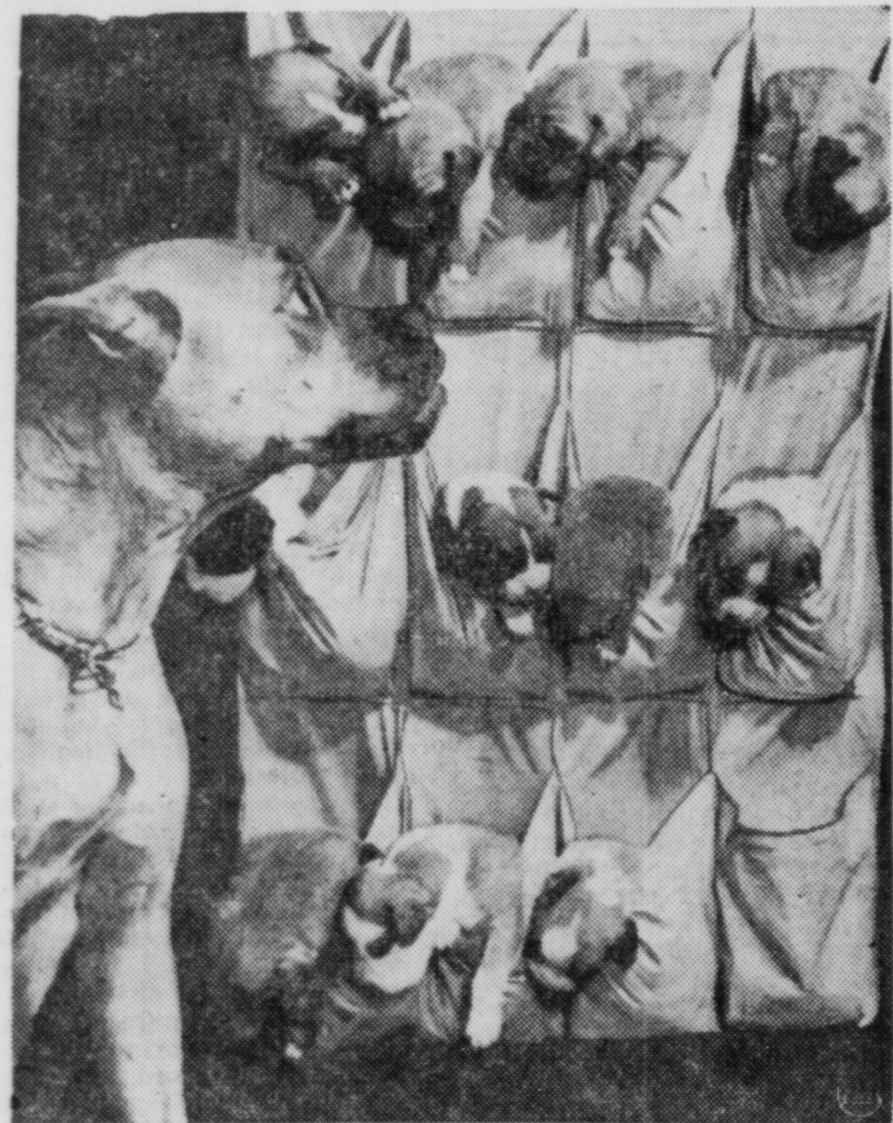

An invitation was extended to Nehru by Secretary of State Dulles during their meeting in New Delhi earlier this month.

THE WHITE HOUSE announcement said the U. S. visit of the Indian leader, will be "an informal one." It said Nehru's talks with the President "will cover matters of mutual interest between the two countries."

Nehru will arrive here July 6 or 7, coming directly from the Commonwealth Prime Ministers Conference in London.

Eisenhower has offered Nehru the use of the Presidential plane, the Columbine III, for the flight from London, the White House said.

The Indian prime minister is expected to leave the United States on the Columbine July 10 or 11. He would return to London.

Harriman Vetoes Bill Making Parents Liable

Albany, N. Y., March 20 (AP)—Gov. Harriman today vetoed a bill that would have held parents financially responsible for property damage done by their children.

Harriman said the value of the legislation had not been established.

THE MEASURE would have made parents liable for damages up to $250 caused by children under 16.

The governor noted that there had been unusual controversy over the bill and that it had barely passed in the Senate, 30-24.

Harriman said sponsors of the bill believed that it would cause parents to "exercise greater control over their children and hence to reduce the number of acts of vandalism."

But he said that opponents of the bill "point out that its burden will fall particularly on low-income families and that it could conceivably limit the liability of parents who are financially able to pay considerably more than $250 for damage caused by their children."

"THEY ALSO stress the fact," Harriman said, "that the bill may lead to added strain in families where relationship are already tense and might even give to troublesome delinquents a weapon against their parents which they would not hesitate to use."

The governor said a number of leading agencies and organizations dealing with youth problems had registered opposition to the measure.

It was sponsored by Sen. Stanley J. Bauer and Assemblyman William Butler, Buffalo Republicans.

Bill to Bar Brewery Vetoed by Governor

Annapolis, Md., March 20 (AP)—The Maryland Legislature's "Beer Bill" to keep foreign-owned breweries from the state was vetoed yesterday by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin.

The governor termed it "illogical legislation" harmful to Maryland's efforts to bring new business to the state and contrary to the federal government's attempts to "build good will through international trade."

The bill, passed overwhelmingly by both Houses of the 1954 General Assembly, had the immediate object of keeping the Carling Brewing Co., a subsidiary of Canadian Breweries Ltd., from building a 12-million-dollar plant at Halethorpe, near Baltimore.

Whether Carling would proceed with its announced plans for the brewery was another question, however. In Cleveland, President Ian R. Dowie said the veto was a "wonderful piece of news." But he added he could not say immediately about future plans.

Leading Lady Hurt

New York, March 20 (AP)—An on-stage injury to the leading lady, Ruth Altshul, has forced postponement of opening of the play, "The Beautiful Changes," from tonight to Friday. Miss Altshul was struck on the head by a falling pipe during a preview performance of the Howard Lieblich play at the President Theatre last Saturday afternoon. She continued playing, and was able to give another performance Saturday night. Since then, however, her physician has diagnosed her injury as a "severe cerebral concussion" and she has been ordered to rest indefinitely.

No Settlement Near In Kohler Strike

Chicago, March 20 (AP)—The first bargaining meeting in seven months between the Kohler Co., of Kohler, Wis., and striking Local 833 of the United Auto Workers lasted two hours and 43 minutes yesterday and ended without progress.

"There is no possibility of reaching a settlement at this time," said Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the international union. "The company still insists it will not replace the people who were hired since the strike began."

Mazey said neither side offered new proposals.

Lyman Conger, Kohler chief counsel and head of the bargaining committee, asserted, "We are just about where we were last August."

The strike, one of the oldest and bitterest in the nation, began April 15, 1954 when union members walked out to back contract demands.

Mazey said the current stumbling block is reinstatement of striking workers. Lack of agreement on the same issue reportedly broke up the August 1955 meeting, which held sessions over several days.

SENSIBLE PLAN FOR SAFETY

For all the earnest concern being voiced over the country's worsening highway traffic problem, there's a surprising scarcity of really solid plans for meeting it.

Consequently, wide interest ought to attend the commendable effort of the National Safety Council in producing a tough, comprehensive, concrete program for improved highway safety in the 10 years just ahead.

The council notes predictions that by 1966 there will be 83 million vehicles on American roads—20 million more than now. It fears the traffic fatality toll may rise from today's 38,000 to 53,000 unless stiff measures are taken to prevent it.

What measures does the council propose?

It urges every individual driver and pedestrian to drive and walk sensibly and safely and to join organized community and national effort to see that others do the same.

Authorities are advised to give every community the blunt facts about how its safety program measures up to recognized standards. Laggards must be helped to reach par.

The council calls for the speedy building of as many miles as possible of modern, accident-resistant highways to meet the mounting traffic load.

It recommends use of every known technique of traffic engineering and law enforcement.

Uniform traffic laws from state to state and city to city are seen as essential to providing the driver with clear, simple rules he can follow anywhere.

Driver education, both in class and behind the wheel with trained teachers, is in the council's view a compulsory step.

It believes driver's license requirements should be so tough that only persons truly fit physically, mentally and emotionally are allowed to drive. And it would suspend an individual's license the moment he demonstrates inability to drive as a "decent, sensible citizen should drive."

It believes, too, that traffic courts should be backed to the limit in showing erring drivers and pedestrians that it isn't wise or healthful to operate a car either selfishly or dangerously.

Finally, the council would encourage steady improvement in automobile design to make cars easier to drive safely and provide motorists with maximum protection.

Obviously, if the country starts taking these suggestions to heart without delay, the awesome traffic fatality toll will drop significantly.

This is a meaty program, and as such it merits the study and attention of every American and every community in the country.

WHEN IS A HOLIDAY?

Representative Henry J. Latham of New York City has introduced a bill in Congress authorizing all national holidays to be observed on Mondays. Washington's birthday, Memorial day, Independence day and Veterans day would be annually celebrated on the Monday closest to the days they regularly occur. His bill does not attempt to change the days of religious holidays.

Labor day is a good example of how pleasant a Monday holiday is. People who do not work on Saturdays and Sundays find the extra free day a rare pleasure. Every few years other holidays occur on Monday, and most people seem happy about it.

Opposition has been voiced by those who are reluctant to break long-established habit and by those uneasy about making tradition conform to comfort. They believe holidays are treats, to be enjoyed at the small price of respecting the history for which they were created. They see in the Monday free days an emphasis of enjoyment and a de-emphasis of the payment of appreciation.

The real problem facing debaters of this bill is not so much do we have such a right as would we actually forget our history in enjoyment of Monday revels? Judging

'These Days'

THE NIXON VICTORY

The Nixon write-in vote in the New Hampshire primaries established two facts:
1. The Republican Party still exists as a political organism dependent upon grass-root decisions;
2. That Republicans regard Nixon as a Republican and not as a political emulm.

This may sound complex but I point it up because it is not usual for more than 22,000 persons in a state like New Hampshire to have written anybody's name on the ballot unless the word had gone forth that this was a test of party strength. Democrats, New Dealers, A.D.A.s and similar persons may oppose this or that Republican in speeches, in newspaper articles and in whispering campaigns, but they cannot vote in most primaries and they cannot be delegates to a party convention. They will have their opportunity in the general election to vote for or against anybody, but it is not the right of outsiders to determine what a party should do. The attempt, on the part of some politicians to denature the Republican Party by making it include everybody, even those opposed to the party, violates the two-party system which is of the essence of American politics.

It is like the suggestion I heard the other day that if the Republicans cannot get a Republican other than Richard Nixon, they might try a Democrat, like Senator Clinton Anderson. I do not take that seriously, as I am sure a responsible man, such as Senator Anderson, would not take such a proposition seriously. But even the mention of this idea shows the demoralizing influence of non-partisanship which is the only platform upon which amateurs can operate. The New Hampshire primary proves that the non-partisans or bi-partisans have not yet taken over the Republican Party.

Another factor that must be noted in the New Hampshire primaries is that the partisan write-in vote for Nixon was a direct repudiation of the President's assistant, Sherman Adams, who was once Governor of that state and who is a political opponent of Senator Styles Bridges who is a firm supporter of Richard Nixon. Adams does not openly oppose Nixon because he never does anything openly, but in conservative Republican circles, where he has long been regarded as the devil in the Eisenhower inner group, he has been suspected of cooking up the anti-Nixon dumping scheme.

It is altogether possible that this is an incorrect assumption and that Sherman Adams has had nothing to do with this stupid attempt to do to Nixon what Roosevelt did to Henry Wallace. But it goes to show how Republicans feel that whenever anything goes wrong, they attribute it to Sherman Adams. At any rate, in New Hampshire that was a factor in the situation and the voters up there enjoyed showing Sherman that so far as they were concerned he could get no support in his own state. The Nixon write-in vote was a great victory for Senator Styles Bridges.

The Nixon situation basically involves the existence of the Republican Party as a political organ that flows from the grass-roots up to the leadership or whether it is a vote-gathering mechanism that is rigidly controlled by the technicians in the White House. As there can be traditionally be no opposition to President Eisenhower who must be supported for a second term, ordinarily this would be a dull year for a politician who would have to take Eisenhower and Nixon for granted. It was not believed that the President would dump Nixon because of their close relations, but when the President had his heart attack, the schemers got busy, on the assumption that whoever had a heart attack must sooner or later die. It is also true that even without a heart attack, it is possible to die in office, but there is a better chance if one has suffered from this kind of ailment.

So the interested parties began to scheme for the Vice Presidency. The vulgarly the indecency of gambling on the possibilities of another person's death, particularly by close associates, was beyond belief but it happened and in New Hampshire the schemers were kicked in the pants as they deserved to be. Even many who are not enthusiastic about Nixon resent the viciousness of the attacks on him. And that, one hopes, settles that.

USE OF DRUGS IN ANXIETY

Yesterday we were speaking of the need on the part of the anxious patient for confidence in the attending physician, confidence not only in his physician's professional abilities but also in the feeling that he is being treated as a person, not just as a "case." We also spoke of the prescription of sedative (quieting) drugs when indicated.

Sedatives have long been employed to provide restful sleep and to lower critical reactivity during waking hours. These must, of course, be given under close medical supervision. Sometimes the indiscriminate use of drugs is a mistake and is unnecessary. On the other hand, the discipline and training of a psychiatric department may effectively substitute for medicines. A practical diagnostic test can be performed with 0.2 gm. of Sodium Amytal. A minute or two after an injection, symptoms due to anxiety usually disappear.

Alcohol, the most popular sedative of the laity used for the relief of anxiety, is likely to cause addiction because it is readily available and is easily abused.

Phenobarbital is excellent as a sedative because of typical slow effect. However, terror-stricken patients may repeat doses too quickly and in the ensuing fog, a potential suicide may take his life. Quick-acting barbiturates are employed chiefly to ensure sleep. Continued large doses of barbiturates will cause true addiction.

Opiates, though unsurpassed for pain, should not be used for anxiety unless a single dose is urgently needed and less addictive agents are not available. Safer drugs that quiet worry greatly reduce the amount of opiate needed for pain.

The tranquilizing compounds, chlorpromazine (Largactil) and Rauwolfia, have been useful in prolab, obsessions, agitation, and hostility in senile patients. Nausea and vomiting from psychic or other factors are controlled. Large doses induce profound sleep but the subject is readily awakened and consciousness is not clouded. Reserpine allays fears with less weakening of energy and drive than do barbiturates. Serenity and a sense of well-being are induced in many tense individuals. Occasional side effects include stuffy nose, sleepiness, dizziness or diarrhoea which frequently vanish after two or more weeks of treatment. Initial dosage usually begins with 10 mg. of chlorpromazine by mouth two or three times daily, increasing if response is inadequate. Risk of drowsiness makes driving a car hazardous until dosage and patient's tolerance toward the drug have been established.

It must be remembered that depressed states can be intensified or created by either drug, especially reserpine, and suicidal impulses may be used.

Next to faith in their medical adviser, a frightened person needs most to understand what is wrong and what will be done for relief. Tomorrow we will try to go into that subject briefly.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA).—When the Senate's special, bi-partisan committee to investigate lobbying and political campaign contributions gets down to business, it will find enough work to keep it busy for years.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) is chairman and Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.) is vice chairman. Both of them, incidentally, voted for the natural gas bill amendment.

This legislation was what started the investigation after Sen. Francis Case (R-S.D.) revealed that a Superior Oil Co. representative had tried to give him a $25,000 campaign contribution while the gas bill was under consideration.

There were over 850 lobbyists registered with the Senate secretary and House clerk for the fourth quarter of 1955. There is some duplication in this figure, for it includes both trade associations or firms and their individual representatives who did the actual lobbying.

Total lobbying expenditures reported in the last three months of last year were over $750,000. Congress was not in session for this period. This may or may not account for the fact that fewer than half of the 850 registered lobbyists reported any expenses at all.

Lobbyists' reports for the first quarter of 1956 will not be made public until May. They should show greatly increased expenses. And if the McClellan-Bridges committee hunt is in full cry then, it will provide a new list of Washington wolves to chase. If the committee follows through on the indicated course of investigating the oil and gas lobbies first, the 1955 lobbying reports give good seeds of what trails can and cannot be found.

For instance, neither Superior Oil Co., the Keck family members who run it, nor their attorneys, John M. Neff and Elmer Patman, registered in Washington as lobbyists last year. They may still file for the first quarter of 1956, however.

About 25 oil and gas companies, trade associations, committees and individual representatives did register. Their reported lobbying expenses last year were over $370,000.

NOT ALL OF THEIR activities were for or against the natural gas act amendment which President Eisenhower finally vetoed because of this activity.

Their reported expenditures cover such things as publicity, salaries and fees, gifts, office overhead, telephone and telegraph, travel expense and entertainment.

Among the larger spenders reporting last year were the following, with their expenses given in round numbers:

American Petroleum Institute, New York, $50,000.

District of Columbia Petroleum Industries Committee, $2,200. John E. Kane of Washington registered as lobbyist and reported expenditures of $1,900 for American Petroleum Institute, $750 for D. C. Petroleum Industries Com., indicating their connection.

Independent Natural Gas Assn. of America, $137,000. Committee for Pipeline Cos., Washington, $63,000.

General Gas Committee, Washington, $87,000. Edward Falck, Washington, for Bridgeport, Conn., Gas Light

Co. and a number of other local utilities, $9,200.

Gas Appliance Mfgs. Assn., N. Y., $2,700. James R. Lee, Warner Heater Div., Gas Appliance Mfgs., $1,000.

United Gas Pipeline Co., Shreveport, La., $3,500.

THESE INDIVIDUAL lobbyists reported: Albert E. Carter, Pacific Gas & Electric Co., $4,000; Henderson H. Carter, East Ohio Gas Co., $1,300; Frank W. Rogers, Western Oil & Gas Assn., $1,100; Joseph K. Jammer and Ray C. Hinman, Socony Mobil Oil, N. Y., $1,200; Harold L. Kennedy, Ohio Oil Co., $1,000; Walter F. Woodful, Humble Oil Co., $1,900. Ten others registered as lobbyists, with expenses under $100 each.

This is the lobby that gave Congress what was described as one of the greatest pressure campaigns in history.

But this is reported, legitimate lobbying. What the McClellan-Bridges committee has to do is smell out the unreported, illegitimate lobbying—if it can.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

For all the ballyhoo for the new combination of job monopolies under the combined AF of L and CIO, the fundamental truth remains that these bands are rackets in the worst possible sense of the term. The fact that they have received recognition and approval from departments of federal and state governments only makes their menace the worse. There is a sanctimonious outcry from George Meany, the president of the new combination, against larceny, oppression and the manipulation of union treasuries and welfare funds.

But no one single official of the grand racket ever has raised a hand in defense of any worker persecuted by any union. Wherever a worker of extraordinary courage did stand up and fight a union, the highest powers in the racket sided with the forces of persecution against the victim. This sounds terrible. It is terrible. There are few honest unions.

Some years ago, Dave Dubinsky, of the Garment Workers, introduced a resolution at the national convention of the AF of L in New Orleans to exclude racketeers from union office. This bill was aimed at Joe Fay, one of the high vice presidents of the Union of Operating Engineers, which was then and never has ceased to be a foul corruption run with arrogant contempt by William E. Maloney, of Chicago, who got rich at the racket, Fay was rich too and undoubtedly still is because he was far, far short of his owings in his in-

'Legal Means' Seen Delaying School Integration for Years

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 20—Integration of races in all schools throughout the United States is a long way off—years and years, and maybe never. It is as far away or as near as the day when present advocates of integration are willing to face, possibly in their own families, the real issue—the intermarriage of white sons and daughters with Negroes.

The Supreme Court of the United States a few weeks ago side-stepped a decision on the issue of racial intermarriage. For technical reasons, it refused to decide whether a Virginia state law prohibiting intermarriage of races was constitutional. There are such laws in twenty-eight states. Another case is certain to come before the highest court soon. If it is decided that state laws prohibiting intermarriage are unconstitutional, the issue will bring even more friction than the question of school integration.

FOR IN THE SOUTH many people feel that legalized intermarriages will lead to a mongrelization of the white race and that the propinquity of white and Negro children from the kindergarten age up through the colleges cannot but encourage intermarriages on the widest scale in future generations.

The Southerners are arguing for the right to discriminate in their social life, and they consider schools to be a social institution. They point to the recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States on the school question as having been based primarily on sociological grounds.

Southerners also contend that in the North most of the outspoken advocates of integration believe in and themselves practice the right to discriminate against Negroes and do keep them off the membership rolls of the "exclusive" clubs in New York City and Chicago, for example, and bar them from many country clubs throughout the United States, even though such clubs enjoy certain tax exemptions bestowed upon them by the Federal government. Is this right to discriminate in choosing members now to be taken away from them through the coercion of the taxing power?

THE PREDICTION that integration in the schools is far distant is based on the many avenues of avoidance available to the South under the head of "lawful means."

The manifesto signed by such a renowned constitutional lawyer as Sen. Walter F. George, of Georgia, Democrat, and more than 100 other members of Congress did not—as has been erroneously interpreted in many quarters—advocate physical resistance to the Supreme Court's decision. It is important to examine anew the wording of the two most significant paragraphs in the manifesto, which read as follows:

"We commend the motives of those states which have declared the intention to resist forced integration by any lawful means. "We pledge ourselves to use all lawful means to bring about a reversal of this decision."

(Reproductions Rights Reserved)

Experience with another social issue—the eighteenth amendment—is recalled. Public sentiment was gradually built up against it, and the Federal prohibition laws were so universally disregarded and "resisted" that adoption of the "repeal" amendment to the Constitution came with amazing rapidity—within ten months after both Houses of Congress passed it. The states now have the sole power to prohibit the sale of intoxicating beverages within their own boundaries. It has become a "local issue"—which is what education, too, really was for 165 years, until the Supreme Court decision of 1954.

printed and forgotten. She did not get her money. So then without a lawyer, she went into the small claims court in New York and the judge forced the lawyer for Dubinsky's union to pay her every cent she had coming.

This incident is the more interesting because it taints a union which has been praised and glorified by fakers of journalism, mainly the magazine press, as a splendid example of "democracy." It has a treasury of more than $150 million and Dubinsky has admitted that he spent unspecified amounts for "underground" work in Europe which, of course, is no legitimate function of an American labor union. There never has been any accounting. This union maintains some mysterious and sinister relation with the Central Intelligence Agency, a clumsy, stupid cabal of political fly-cops. This stealthy business is conducted from Dubinsky's New York office by the Mountebank Jay Lovestone, as Red a Communist as ever lived who has never condescended to prove that he apostatized.

The structure of American unions under their constitutions, their status under our laws and the colossal record of murder, persecution of individual, helpless workers by pickets and potshots, exile and ostracism are undeniable and undeniable. They are the worst corruption in our national history. Any priest or minister of religion who tries to acquit them of their crimes and inherent wickedness, written into their constitutions and the laws, is either a fool or a fraud.

Questions—Answers

Q—How is a natural bridge like the one in Virginia formed?

A—Such a bridge is often the result of water working its way slowly through loose soil or soft rock. If there is a harder layer of rock on top, it will stay firm and form a bridge.

Q—Where is the birthplace of Samuel Gompers, the American labor leader?

A—Gompers was born in London, England, but moved to the United States when he was 13 years old.

LOOK! NO CABLES—This dredger without steel cables to move the shovel is the innovation of a manufacturer in Duesseldorf, Germany. A hydraulic system replaces the cables. Weight of the new model, which also runs on caterpillars, is about one-third less than that of the conventional type, its manufacturer says.

West Germany In Big Hunt for Nuclear Fuel

Bonn, Germany, March 20 (AP)—West Germany has started exploiting uranium mines in a move to produce nuclear fuel.

The Maximilianhütte Sulzbach-Rosenberg, a private company, is operating a uranium ore mine close to the West German-Czech iron curtain border.

Uranium mining will also start in the Black Forest and in the State of Hesse.

DIGGING in various parts of the country has shown that a production of 20 tons of metallic uranium might be possible. However, West German ores contain only a small percentage of uranium. The refining process will be long and expensive. So uranium for the nation's peaceful atomic program will have to be imported largely.

German uranium production is considered a protective measure in case sufficient supplies cannot be secured from abroad. German experts estimate that approximately 55 pounds of uranium suitable for nuclear reaction are needed in the first year after the West German atomic reactor program starts—probably in 1957.

SO FAR, only a fourth of this is in sight—to be supplied by the United States under an agreement concluded last month. But it is expected additional U. S. uranium will be asked during the visit of atomic Minister Josef Strauss to the United States at the end of April.

Several chemical plants are making plans to extract uranium from German ore. The problem of obtaining uranium 235—essential for nuclear reaction—is being studied by university laboratories in Bonn and Marburg.

Similar efforts are being made in Communist East Germany. It has been promised a nuclear reactor from the Soviet Union. East German uranium mines, considered among the richest in Europe, have been exploited by the Russians since 1945.

Dr. Frederick Beck, Ray Brook medical director, said that joining the Girl Scout unit would help the young patients to do away with the feeling of "being neglected."

Albany, N. Y., March 20 (AP)—Gov. Harriman's appointment of Dominick Paduano of Ozone Park as a member of the Workmen's Compensation Board was confirmed unanimously by the Senate last night.

The post pays $12,500 a year. Paduano's term will expire Dec. 31, 1962. He succeeds Frederick E. Hammer of Belle Harbor, whose term has expired.

Washington, March 20 (AP)—A bill to authorize a 30-million-dollar program of federal aid to the states to repair or rebuild flood damaged roads and bridges was passed by the Senate yesterday and sent to the House.

Troy, N. Y., March 20 (AP)—A 22-year-old man collapsed and died yesterday, minutes after his automobile was involved in a minor collision.

Police said Michael Gatti had stopped his car to pick up a passenger when another car skidded into it. Gatti was writing down the license number of the second car when he collapsed, they said.

Syracuse, N. Y., March 20 (AP)—Joseph A. Ashley, 51, of Ogdensburg, pleaded guilty in federal court yesterday to a charge of evading payment of $1,003.92 in income tax for the year 1949.

Judge Stephen W. Brennan deferred passing of sentence indefinitely until the defendant could adjust civil liabilities. Ashley previously pleaded innocent to the 1949 charge and to another count alleging that he evaded payment of $1,442.90 in 1950. The second charge still is pending.

Says U. S. Reds Plan Intensive Campaign

Washington, March 20 (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says the U. S. Communist party is planning "an intensive crusade which will last four to six months" with the aim of undermining anti-Red legislation.

Hoover said party plans contemplate "a more open activity" and various legal maneuvers including employment of "eminent counsel to defend the party and its leaders." He said the Communists are counting on a more favorable political atmosphere growing out of last July's summit conference.

Milk Production On Way in 1956 To New Record

Washington, March 20 (AP)—Milk production is on the way to a new record this year, the Agriculture Department reports.

Production may reach 127 billion pounds compared with 123½ billion last year, the department said yesterday in a report on the National Dairy situation.

Consumption of fluid milk, the report said, has continued above a year ago, reflecting continued high consumer income, increased quantities distributed in schools and greater sales efforts by the dairy industry.

The department said returns to dairymen were more favorable than a year ago, largely because of lower feed prices. Prices paid dairymen will not change much this year, barring widespread drought.

An increase in fluid milk consumption last year was larger

Urges Companies Tell Farmers About Poisons

Ithaca, N. Y., March 20 (AP)—Agriculture Commissioner Daniel J. Carey today called on the oil industry to maintain safeguards for farmers using newly developed herbicides and fungicides.

Carey said his department wanted to make sure that farmers who "use these economic poisons are fully aware of their potency. We want them to be forewarned of the caution needed in handling them and applying them to their fields."

Addressing an oil industry luncheon, Carey urged great care in proper labeling of "these beneficial but highly toxic materials."

Coffee in Tubes Is New Project of Monticello Man

Ithaca, N. Y., March 20 (AP)—Squeeze yourself a cup of coffee. That's right. Just like toothpaste.

This isn't science fiction. It's just one of the projects on display at the 45th annual Farm and Home Week of the State College of Agriculture at Cornell University.

THE PROJECT is the brainchild of Lester Feller, a 23-year-old agriculture senior from Monticello. He's put foods like mustard, mayonnaise and jellies in tubes.

Now he's working on a "squeeze-a-cup" coffee concentrate to be mixed with hot water.

Yesterday's opening day attendance was just a little better than half of last year's and officials blamed it on the weather.

A total of 1,500 registered throughout the day. Today's program focuses on "design and the American consumer."

ONE OF THE speakers on today's program blamed a breakdown of communications between consumers with designers and manufacturers as the cause of misunderstanding between the two groups.

Joseph Carreiro, director of the industrial design department of the Philadelphia Museum School of Art, and formerly a member of the staff of the New York State College of Home Economics, said that in their efforts to know more about the consumer, designers and manufacturers have sought the help of "great batteries of skills, talents, and professions. The consumer is watched at work, at play, in public, and in the privacy of his home."

DESPITE these surveys, Carreiro said, the consumer still is unable to communicate his opinions on products directly to designers and manufacturers. "Consumer response to products on the market may tell manufacturers what to produce. It does not tell them what to produce. This is one of the gaps which remains to be bridged in the future," Carreiro said.

Cornell Students Win

Ithaca, N. Y., March 20 (AP)—Two Cornell students took first and second places last night in the annual Rice Debate Stage held in conjunction with the annual Farm and Home Week at Cornell. John Kerber Jr. of Emmetsburg, Iowa, won first place and $100. Harold W. Garman of Burt, Niagara county, was second and received $25. Both boys, juniors at Cornell, argued the negative of the question whether it is a good thing that family-sized farms are being combined to form larger farms. There were two other entries.

Former Austrian President Dies

Vienna, March 20 (AP)—Wilhelm Miklas, president of Austria from 1928 until the Nazi occupation in 1938, died here today. He was 84.

Elected president of Austria Dec. 5, 1928, Miklas' political career ended in 1938 when Hitler occupied Austria and proclaimed its union with Germany.

MIKLAS HAD defied two ultimatums from the German Fuehrer to yield Austria to Nazi control, but finally was forced to appoint an Austria Nazi, Arthur Seyss-Inquart, as chancellor. Seyss-Inquart succeeded Kurt Schuschnigg, who resigned.

March 11, 1938, in protest against the Hitler maneuvers.

Miklas then refused to sign the Anschluss decrees uniting Austria with Germany and resigned as president March 13, 1938, the day the Nazi armies entered his country.

AFTER HE QUIT the presidency, he lived in retirement. His movements were restricted under the Nazi regime and his home was placed under guard.

Born at Krems, in lower Austria, Oct. 15, 1872, Miklas began his career as a school teacher. He was elected to the Imperial Parliament of the Austro-Hungarian Empire in 1907.

A member of the old Christian Socialist party, he returned to the legislative halls when the republic was proclaimed after World War 1 and held a seat in the Austrian State Council in 1918-1919. He was made state secretary for education in 1920. In 1923 he became president of the Austrian National Assembly and held that post until he was elected president in 1928.

Miklas was married to Leopoldine Heideringer. They were the parents of 12 children.

6 Groups Oppose TB Hospital Move

Communications were received from six organizations today expressing opposition to transfer of patients from Ulster County TB Hospital to the state hospital at Oneonta.

The organizations said they had mailed resolutions to the board of supervisors stressing that "moving the hospital would result in extreme hardship and inconvenience for many of the patients' families and friends who visit them."

Other sentiments were that "there has been no objection to payment of taxes for support of this fine institution."

The communications came from the Ulster Albany Avenue Businessmen's Association, St. Peter's Holy Name Society, St. Peter's Minstrel Society, Democratic Social Club of the Town of Ulster, the 50 Club, Men's Community Club of Port Jervis.

More than 75 members attending witnessed the presentation of a plaque by local attorney, Arthur B. Ewig. The plaque was inscribed as follows: "Alfred D. Ronder, for exemplifying the highest ideals and principles of B'nai B'rith; for his active participation in all charitable enterprises and those for the general betterment of our community; for his long devotion to his Temple and the prinout this evil wherever it rears its head. Lack of forceful vigilance on our part may open a doorway which must be closed at all times. The fight against communism and atheism is our most important project," he said.

Storm Halts Caesar

New York, March 20 (AP)—The show went on—but the cast was missing. Heavy snow prevented comedian Sid Caesar from getting from his Long Island home to Manhattan last night for his NBC television show. Various other cast members and crewmen similarly were marooned. The studio solved the problem by running a kinescope of excerpts from previous Caesar shows. The original show planned for last night will go on next Monday.

Not Optimistic About Fight to Help Small Dealers

Jacksonville, Fla., March 20 (P)—Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.), chairman of a House small business investigation group, says he's not too optimistic that a legislative program to assist small gasoline and oil dealers can be enacted this year.

"This is an election year," he said, "and we'd step on the toes of big business if we enacted laws to help the little man. But we're going to try anyway."

HE MADE his remarks at a hearing conducted here yesterday by his subcommittee of the House select Small Business Committee.

Witnesses testified that some big oil companies threaten small filling station operators unfairly by requiring them to sell certain products only.

As a result many small dealers are forced to sell on a "sneak basis" to stay in business, said W. D. Faircloth, Jacksonville battery distributor.

He said some dealers who handle his batteries "have to hide them in order to sell them. Some put them in washrooms, under debris and even in the trunks of their private cars parked at the filling stations."

FAIRCLOTH continued that big companies resort to unfair trade practices. "This forces many of the small dealers to sell on a sneak basis and that's why they're scared to testify for fear of losing their stations."

Sixteen witnesses, most of them distributors, testified.

Dan Morgan, a Jacksonville station operator, said he lost his lease on 10 days notice and was never given a reason.

Oil companies, he said, often pick up leases "on the excuse that the washrooms are not clean, when they actually want us out when we get a sale level that would make it more profitable for the big company to operate it on a commission basis."

Aids Rescue of 12

Chicago, March 20 (P)—Policeman James Ross was credited with rescuing 12 persons, including seven children and an elderly crippled and blind man, from a burning apartment building on the west side yesterday. Ross, 29, was passing the building at 2344 West Van Buren street en route to his traffic post when he saw two small boys carrying an undressed infant. He questioned them about the infant and they pointed to a building saying, "there's a fire in there." Ross ran into the smoke-filled building and found four small boys huddled in the hallway. He carried two and pushed the other two to safety. He re-entered the building but flames prevented him from ascending the stairway to the second floor. He pounded on doors of first floor apartments and helped to the outside three adults and two children in one apartment.

Return to Moscow

Moscow, March 20 (P)—A delegation of American Protestant churchmen returned to Moscow today after a one-day visit to Leningrad and talks with religious leaders there. They were told their visit was contributing much to the following of a course of peace and justice. Their sightseeing in Leningrad was limited because some of the top attractions were closed for repairs. That was the case at both St. Isaac's, an anti-religious museum, and the cavernous Kazan Cathedral.

Easter Is Bunny Season, So Carrots Go Into Cake

DELICATE MARSHMALLOWS provide the rabbit faces for this bunny cake. And what a surprise ingredient—mashed carrots.

BY GAYNOR MADDON,

NEA Food and Markets Editor

Every self-respecting Easter bunny enjoys fresh carrots even when he is only a marshmallow bunny sitting on top of a beautiful white cake. Well, believe it or not, here is an Easter cake recipe using fresh carrots as one of the ingredients.

Easter Bunny Cake

Yield 12 to 16 servings

Sift 3 cups cake flour, 1 2/3 cups sugar, 2 teaspoons salt, 3 teaspoons double-acting baking powder and ¼ teaspoon soda together into a mixing bowl. Blend in ¾ teaspoon grated lime rind and mashed cooked carrots and 2 eggs. Beat 2 minutes, at low speed, by hand or with an electric beater. Add 1 more egg and 3 tablespoons milk. Beat 2 more minutes. Pour batter into two well-greased, lightly floured, 9-inch round layer cake pans. Bake 30 minutes of until done in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees F.). Cool 10 minutes in pans. Turn out onto wire racks to finish cooling. Frost with Sea Foam Frosting. Decorate with Easter Bunnies made with fresh marshmallows pinched at one end for the tail and at the other end for the head. Make eyes and nose in the face with a toothpick dipped in melted chocolate. Cut ears from pink writing paper and insert in top of the head. Arrange around the edges of cake.

Sea Foam Frosting (Yield: Sufficient frosting for tops and sides of two 9-inch layers)

Combine 2 egg whites with 1 cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice, 1 tablespoon fresh orange juice and 1 tablespoon water, in the top of a double boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water. Beat with an electric beater or by hand, at full speed, and beat until stiff peaks are formed. Blend in 3 drops yellow vegetable coloring and ¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind. Spread between two 9-inch layer cakes and over top and sides.

Employer Benefits Received by Most

New York, March 20 (P)—Almost 75 per cent of the 4½ million workers employed in private industry in New York state receive employer-financed health or welfare benefits, State Industrial Commissioner Isador Lubin reported today.

The figure was based on a State Labor Department survey of a cross section comprising 25,000 firms with more than 2½ million employees.

The survey covered hospital, surgical, medical, life, accidental death and dismemberment insurance and retirement pensions.

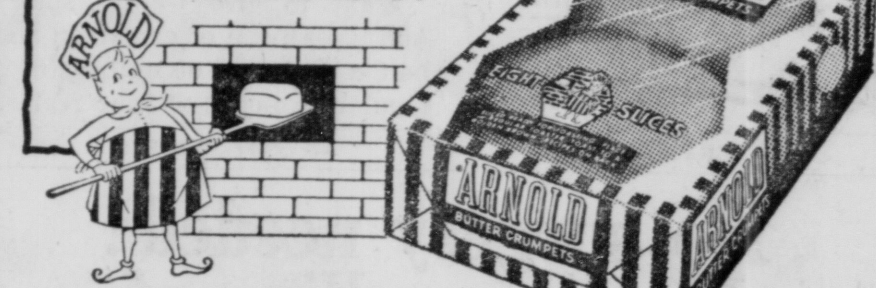

The percentages of coverage varied with the different types of insurance and pensions. The finding of the survey appear in the current issue of the "Industrial Bulletin," monthly magazine of the State Labor Department.

Return to Iowa

Newton, Iowa, March 20 (P)—Former Air Force Sgt. Jerry Damman, his wife, Marilyn, and their year-old daughter, Pamela Sue, came back home to Newton yesterday from East Meadow, Long Island, where nearly five months ago their 3-year-old son, Steven, mysteriously disappeared. The boy dropped from sight in front of an East Meadow supermarket Oct. 31. His mother had left him outside for a few minutes with his sister, who was in a baby carriage. Police at East Meadow, where Damman was stationed with the air force, theorized it was a kidnapping but all clues led nowhere.

Spring Increases Retail Sales After Hard Winter

By SAM DAWSON

New York, March 20 (AP)—There's a rumor around that spring starts today. That's none too soon for a lot of people.

Just as the sun is balanced on the Equator today, so is business on its high plateau.

But spring starts the sap flowing in the trees—and love flowing in a young man's fancy—and womenfolk flowing to the stores.

This is the season when wives decide that the living room carpet won't do any longer. And, as every husband knows, one purchase of that sort invariably leads to another.

MERCHANTS will be glad to see the last of the snow drifts disappear. In February total retail trade was clocked at an annual rate of 184 billion dollars. This was better than a year ago, but some six billion under the pace set in the final months of 1955.

Bad weather in March hasn't helped much, but quickening is reported as Easter nears.

Industrial output has been down a little, too. Adjusted seasonally, production was off a bit in January and February from the record high established in December. Some expect that the March figures will stick on the same plateau.

BUT WITH spring officially here today, thanks to leap year—if it hadn't been for that extra day in February, spring would be clocked in on March 21—there's hope for a pickup in many lines.

Spring is what the auto industry counts on to bring the customers back to the dealers' show rooms—and laid-off workers back to the auto assembly lines.

The steel industry reports that orders are already picking up. The mills have been busy all along, but the flow of new orders is causing some steel executives to revamp their predictions. They foresee no slowdown now for some time to come.

ORDERS FOR steel for the construction and freight car building industries are particularly pressing.

And with spring construction should pick up still more. Contractors are especially interested in what spring brings forth this year. Home building has been slow for some time.

But there are signs that already some folk have jumped the gun on spring and begun dreaming of buying a home of their own. At least, the Veterans Administration reports an increase in the number of persons inquiring about mortgage guarantees.

WHEN THE ground thaws out, home building may pick up. If so, the professional worriers will have one thing less on their list of possible threats to the business boom.

Spring house cleaning is always a booster for sales of paint, furniture and draperies.

Gardening is growing each year into a nicer bit of cash for many suppliers of tools and seeds. Just replanting the lawns around all the millions of new and old homes starts millions of dollars flowing through trade channels.

AND SPRING starts thoughts of vacations. Americans spent 1½ billion dollars last year in foreign travel alone. What

Dust Storms Damage 3,335,000 Plains Acres

Washington, March 20 (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today 3,335,000 acres of land in the Great Plains have been damaged this season by dust storms.

A survey showed further, it said, that 19,400,000 acres were in a condition to be damaged by wind erosion, due to lack of moisture and soil cover. The department said about 94 per cent of the land already damaged this season is located in Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Texas. About 85 per cent of that in a condition to blow was said to be located in the same states.

The department said the land already damaged and that likely to be damaged was about the same total acreage in similar conditions a year ago.

Damaged to growing wheat this season was put at 511,000 acres, most of it in Colorado and Texas.

Surgeon Says Half of Cancers Now Curable

Washington, March 20 (AP)—Surgeon General Leonard Scheele said today one out of every two cancers can now be cured, thanks to research gains in the last 10 years.

In a talk prepared for the Scientific Assembly of the American Academy of General Practice, Scheele said that "through early diagnosis and adequate radiological (X-ray and radium) and surgical therapy, the rate of cure in all cancer cases has increased in the past 10 years from 15 per cent to more than 50 per cent."

AND, HE SAID, promising gains are being made in the use of drugs and other chemicals against some forms of cancers, although no curative ones have yet been found.

"Drugs and hormonal substances are gaining increasing value in the treatment of the leukemias and the more common cancers," he said. "Some lives are being prolonged and the patients are more comfortable."

Scheele also told of progress against hypertension, commonly called high blood pressure, declaring:

"TEN YEARS ago, the physician faced with a case of hypertension had little to offer, except his personal effort to win the patient's cooperation in following a health-conservation regime."

"Today, the physician has a wide choice of new drugs—none of which is perfect, none of which is suitable for all cases, but all of which have proved effective in one way or another."

Earlier, the same gathering was told of a possible robot cancer sleuth designed to speed up and simplify laboratory diagnosis of cancer.

Must Examine All Of Body in Tests For Eye Diseases

Washington, March 20 (AP)—Family doctors were told today there may be more to an eye disease than meets the eye of the examiner who looks only at the eye itself.

Dr. Irving H. Leopold of the University of Pennsylvania said an eye ailment oftentimes may be associated with or be the outcome of some other ailment. Thus, he said, it is necessary to pay attention "to the entire body" to assure proper diagnosis and treatment.

In remarks prepared for the scientific assembly of the American Academy of General Practice, Leopold said proper "differential diagnosis" among a number of possible ailments of the external part of the eye "is frequently missed because the patient receives only a specialized examination from an ophthalmologist (eye doctor) or a dermatologist (skin specialist)."

An example, he said, is conjunctivitis, or "pink eye," which he said may sometimes be associated with an acute respiratory illness caused by viruses which can strike the eyes, throat and adenoids.

He said another eye condition known as "keratoconjunctivitis sicca" is associated with dryness of the mouth and arthritis—and occurs in some women at the time of menopause.

"There are numerous examples," he said, "which stress the importance of a thorough examination of the entire patient rather than a local examination of one organ of the body by a specialist."

Music Appreciation Group met at the home of Mrs. John Sterley, North Manor avenue, Thursday, March 15 to celebrate the 200th anniversary of the birth of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart.

The program was impromptu with each member contributing some article or anecdote on the life and character of the great composer.

During the program, it was pointed out that Mozart, often referred to as the golden child of music, was born January 27, 1756 in Salzburg, Austria.

The anniversary of his birth is being celebrated all over the world. Austria, Germany and Belgium have even ordered Mozart stamps as a memorial.

Mozart was a phenomenal prodigy, revealing the most extraordinary musical intelligence and native gifts from earliest childhood. When he was only six he toured Europe and amazed its capitals with his incomparable endowments.

Mozart had no idea of the value of money so was always in debt. He was lively, improvident, generous. He received $200 for "Figaro" and $225 for "Don Giovanni."

He married Constanze Weber, sister of the singer Aloysia Weber.

When he died, his body was left to be interred in a pauper's grave.

Selections played throughout the session included "Serenade in G Major," "Ave Verbum," "Concerto No. 5," "Violin Concerto in A Major," and "Piano Concerto No. 24."

Mrs. Frank Thompson presided. The next meeting of the Music Appreciation Group will be with Miss Jane Austen and Miss Grace Shumway on Millers lane. Mrs. W. L. Rider will have the program.

Statistics Show Men Doing More Housework While Women Mow Lawns and Fix Plumbing

By DOROTHY ROE
(The Associated Press)

There's more and more talk these days about how men are doing the housework in America and women are taking on such chores as mowing the lawn and fixing the plumbing.

This all sounds fine in print, but in actual practice it's a little frightening.

Did you ever clean up the kitchen after Pop cooked a steak?

Any woman who has had this experience will realize that this trend toward getting the men into the kitchen is something that should be nipped in the bud.

The latest frightening news comes from a study made at the University of Michigan, which indicated the following state of affairs in homes in the Detroit area:

Close to half of Detroit husbands help with the grocery shopping and 14 per cent of them do it all.

Only one out of four husbands in the area handles the family finances.

One out of five husbands gets his own breakfast, and one out of six helps with the dishes.

The survey indicates further that some wives are doing such things as mowing the lawn and shoveling snow.

Now let's take that business about Pop doing the marketing. Whenever this happens, the man of the house comes back laden with such things as caviar, pate de foie gras, truffles and club soda, but no bacon, eggs or potatoes. He has spent twice as much as the usual order costs, and still acquired little from which to fix a meal.

Or he decides to go out and select personally the steak he is going to broil on the outdoor grill. This becomes a high adventure.

He comes back with a choice steak, it's true. But usually it is twice as big as he needs, and its cost runs into astronomical figures. When the time for cooking nears, the male chef becomes a prima donna. He fusses over the fire for what seems hours, and then when it reaches a state that is to his liking, he barks orders for salt, pepper, butter, fork, tongs, barbecue sauce and carving board—like a surgeon in the operating room.

It requires at least two assistants to supply the necessary service, have the plates hot, the salad cold and the coffee brewed at the psychological moment.

When the meal is served, it is superb. Guests applaud, and pop glows in the general aura of approbation.

While this goes on, the women of the family are trying to mop up, repair other ravages in the kitchen and wash a young mountain of dishes, pots and pans.

Such experiences have taught most wives that it sounds like a fine idea to have the husband help with the housework and it's great for his ego; but things are a lot simpler if you do it yourself.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

THE WREATH THAT ARRIVED TOO LATE

A reader writes me as follows: "I would very much like your opinion on the following matter: My husband died recently and the day after the funeral a floral piece arrived from an out-of-town friend. Apparently there was some mixup either by the florist or by the person who sent them as to when the funeral was to be. As I didn't know what to do with it, I refused to accept it and sent it back to the florist. I have been told that it was unforgivably rude of me to return the flowers. Perhaps I did act in haste, but what was I to do with it?"

To send the flowers back was certainly very unappreciative. If the distance had not been too great, you should have taken the floral piece out to the cemetery and put it on the grave. Otherwise, there was nothing to do but try to rearrange the flowers and keep them in the house or send them to the hospital and write a note of thanks to the sender.

Why Two Envelopes?

Dear Mrs. Post: I will be graduating in June and in discussing graduation announcements the other day in class, the question came up as to the purpose of the two envelopes that are customarily sent with invitations and announcements. No one seemed to know the answer and so I am writing to you to answer this question for us, if you will.

Answer: This custom began with wedding invitations and the wish to have the envelopes spotlessly clean. This envelope was protected by a second outside one which was stamped and went through the handling of the mail.

Sending Picture

Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be too novel an idea to enclose a small wedding picture of my fiancé and myself with some of the marriage announcements?

Answer: It would be unusual but a very nice thing to do to people you know very well and who live at a great distance.

Have you given yourself an etiquette test lately? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Her leaflet E-18, "Questions in Etiquette," includes many questions and answers. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

You need Jacqueline Cochran's FLOWING VELVET

This modern flowing formula has helped countless women—just like you—who had despaired of a dry, prematurely aging skin.

Jacqueline Cochran has found a whole new answer to the dry skin problem and its main cause, the dehydration of the sub-surface tissues. After years of research, she discovered Hydrolin, a new ingredient that, for the first time, can and does transfer beneficial moisture into the deep tissues of the skin. Thanks to exclusive Hydrolin, blended with other rich components, Jacqueline Cochran created an entirely new kind of 3-way beauty formula.

Unique Flowing Velvet acts 3-ways:

It furnishes moisture that actually sinks into your skin,
It provides necessary oils for essential lubrication.
It maintains the normal balance of oils and moisture.

One touch mirrors the beautiful change! Tiny lines soften, years seem to melt away. Use Flowing Velvet day and night. It's hormone-free, greaseless, won't smear your make-up or smudge your pillow.

Our specially trained Jacqueline Cochran expert will be happy to show you what just a few drops of richly concentrated Flowing Velvet will actually do for your skin.

HANS CLODHOPPER — Hans woos the Princess with a wooden shoe, a dead crow and a handful of sand in the play, "Hans Clodhopper" which will be presented at the George Washington School Friday.

League to Present Theatre for Children

The Salome Gaynor Theatre for Children will present "Hans Clodhopper," a fascinating folk tale, Friday at 3:45 p. m. in the George Washington School auditorium under the sponsorship of the Junior League of Kingston.

The fairy tale will be enacted by a New York cast of professional adult actors under the skillful direction of Salome Gaynor whose Theatre for Children has delighted child audiences for many seasons.

The play takes place in Old Holland and tells the story of a youth whose position in life is that of the youngest of three brothers attempting to make a way for himself. The three brothers compete for a princess's hand whose father has promised her in marriage to the young man having the most to say for himself.

Laughed at by his brothers, Hans starts out with nothing but his confidence in himself enables him to achieve his goal.

Tickets may be obtained at the door of the George Washington School the afternoon of the play.

"Quality Is Remembered Long After Price Is Forgotten"

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By RELMAN MORIN
(For Hal Boyle)

New York, (AP)—It was a Sunday morning in New England, and very hushed and still. From time to time, a car with clinking chains sloshed through the little town. A freight train whistled in the distance, and another answered with a low moan. Then silence again, and the lonely quiet.

Suddenly, like a sunburst of music, the church bells began ringing.

THE TONES came rolling down the street, across the common, glistening with snow, bouncing between the buildings, jostling each other in a wonderful din and clangor.

One was a merry little bell, all crystal and silver. Another was sweet and serene. Still another spoke with a deep-throated authority, a serious, hard-working bell.

I put down the Sunday paper—the floor of my hotel room already was knee-deep in the scattered pages—and sat there, listening. It occurred to me that you seldom hear church bells in New York, or in most big cities, unless you listen specially for them. They have to compete with too many other sounds.

AND YOU DON'T often go to church in the city either. Too much competition for time, too. When was the last time? Probably for "marryin' or buryin'" as they say in the south. It must have been a long time back, too far to remember, anyway.

Through the window, I could see people converging on the churches. I wondered what it would be like. An instant later, I was putting on my hat and coat.

The churches in New England are gems. They are usually small, usually white, always exquisite in line and proportion. They have tall, tapering spires and graceful doors. Stained glass windows gleam like jewels against the white. These are simple and beautiful churches.

AND THEY are American, deeply and truly American, a part of the very fabric of our tradition. It is hard to imagine a New England town without a white church on the edge of the common.

I sat well back and watched the congregation before the service began.

A woman reached around her husband, trying to smooth an unruly cowlick in her son's hair; the boy looked at her with despair. Two teen-agers, on opposite sides of the aisle, stole furtive glances at each other. The inevitable late-comer appeared, stumbling over feet, murmuring "Sorry," all the way to the very middle of the pew.

ON A BOARD beside the choir, the numbers of the hymns had been posted. The organist was playing a gentle, musing French song.

Then came the first hymn, and to my immense delight, a man behind me sang counterpoint. As far back as I can remember, there was always a deep-voiced man in church who sang counterpoint—or sometimes just off-key.

The whole moment was intensely familiar. Suddenly, the years fell away and this became another church in another place and time. I thought of absent friends, but not in sorrow; they seemed closer now.

A feeling of peace that is rare these days was in that church.

The minister read a passage from St. Mark.

"And he said unto them, the Sabbath was made for man, and not for the Sabbath."

Then he began his sermon. He spoke simply and with a compelling sincerity, and he had wisdom. When he finished, there was another hymn, and a moment of prayer. As the people left, he stood beside the front door shaking hands. He looked like a happy man, and some of his happiness communicated itself to them.

I went back to the hotel and the Sunday papers, feeling glad about the bells.

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Put yourself in the West seat for the defense today. Try to look only at your own hand and at the North hand. That's all you would see in a normal game.

You open the ten of clubs, dummy plays low, and your partner wins with the ace. South follows suit with the four of clubs.

East now returns the deuce of clubs, and South wins with the king. You haven't peeked, of course, but you should know all about the clubs by now.

South leads the six of hearts, and you must plan your defense. What do you do, and why? Decide before you read on. You must step up with the ace of hearts and lead the king of spades!

To begin with, you know the club situation. East cannot have the jack of clubs, for with that card he would not waste the ace on the first trick. East cannot have the five of clubs, for he would return that card instead of the deuce. Hence you know that South started with four clubs in addition to a rebiddable diamond suit (which must be at least five cards in length.)

South has room in his hand for only four cards in spades and hearts combined. When he leads the six of hearts, it is obvious that South's other hearts must be the king and queen. He wouldn't lead the suit with any other holding. Therefore South has only a singleton spade at most.

Having worked this out, you take the ace of hearts, cash the king of spades, and lead another spade tricks. This defeats the spade to give your partner two contract.

If you failed to put up this sharp defense, South would take nine tricks—three clubs, five diamonds, and a heart.

New Robot Ready As Cancer Sleuth

Washington, March 20 (AP)—A possible robot cancer sleuth — aimed at speeding up and simplifying diagnosis of cancer—is ready for experimental trial by researchers.

The American Cancer Society today described the machine, called a "cytoanalyzer." It is designed to tell quickly, by electronic means, whether cells contained in tissue samples on a microscope slide are healthy or cancerous.

such slides must be examined through a microscope by a technician who refers suspicious slides to a pathologist. The robot is designed to do the work automatically and in large volume, Cancer Society representatives said.

The device was described at a scientific exhibit in connection with the scientific assembly of the American Academy of General Practice.

Said to have shown promising results in preliminary tests, the robot was described this way:

IT CONTAINS an optical-electrical device which "looks" at cells on the slide. The image is magnified and scanned by a ring of tiny holes in a rapidly rotating disk. Light from each cell image passes through each scanning hole and falls on a super-sensitive electric eye tube, causing a pulse of electric current.

This current pulse then enters a computer designed to distinguish between cancer and non-cancer cells on the basis of the type of electrical signal fed into it.

H-Bomb Fallout Could Make Area Useless for Years

Washington, March 20 (AP)—Dr. Ralph E. Lapp said today radioactive fallout from an H-Bomb could make a big target area unlivable for several years by peacetime standards.

Lapp, a physicist and writer-lecturer, said in remarks prepared for a House government operations subcommittee studying Civil Defense:

"Naturally, any person trapped in a fallout area, let's say he's lucky enough to seek a good shelter, wants to know when it will be safe to emerge and resume 'normal' life above ground.

"Official government pronouncements imply that this might be 36 hours. In my estimate it is much longer."

LAPP DID NOT specify how long he thought it might be before an H-bombed area might be safe. He noted this would depend on many different circumstances, adding that in wartime "one is not apt to pay much attention to peacetime safety limits."

But under peacetime standards, and without decontamination measures, he said, "much of the fallout area would be denied to habitation for several years."

"It must be stressed," Lapp said, "that no one has any practical experience in decontaminating thousands of square miles of territory."

Lapp said that with the radiation danger from H-bombs civil defense planning should be geared to an "evacuation-to-shelter" concept involving construction of peripheral shelters and "the made-do use of existing suburban structures."

THE ATOMIC scientist-author said "superbombs" may have a temporary power limit of 50 megatons (force equivalent to that released by 50 million tons of TNT) because of present limits in bomb-carrying capacity.

The 50 megaton figure, previously mentioned in subcommittee testimony, is 2,500 times as powerful as the World War 2 A-bomb which destroyed Nagasaki.

FOR ILLUSTRATIVE purposes, Lapp assumed explosion of a 20 megaton bomb and that 10 megatons of fission products are dispersed over a 10,000 square mile area.

"After the first day the fallout radioactivity dies off more slowly and forms a persistent hazard," he said. "I would like to emphasize the great importance of the long term persistence of fallout, for I believe that this has not yet been translated to the local levels in civil defense."

Compared with a peacetime safety standard of 0.3 roentgens (a radioactivity measurement) per week, Lapp submitted a table listing dosage at 60 roentgens for a person unshielded all day one week after an H-bomb explosion.

Similar exposure would range from 1,200 roentgens the first nine hours after the blast to 300 roentgens total in the third through sixth months, the chart showed.

Marital Infidelity, Delinquency Are Fought in Bulgaria

Vienna, Austria, March 20 (AP)—Bulgaria has joined the Communist drive on broken homes, juvenile delinquency and drunkenness. Bulgarian papers received here say the Sofia government has adopted a new striking at marital infidelity.

It says: "A spouse who leaves his (or her) family and cohabits with another person is punished by deprivation of freedom for six months or by a fine of up to 1,000 leva ($140) and public condemnation."

FOR REPEATED offenses the prison terms go as high as three years. Both parties in the liaison are equally liable to the penalties.

A people's court judge, writing in the Sofia newspaper Vacheni Novini, said the law was directed at persons "who solve their personal problems of marriage and family in an arbitrary and unilateral fashion."

A spouse who continues to live with the family, but maintains a permanent illegitimate relationship outside the family is liable to the penalties of the law, the judge wrote. He explained that such relationships include "constant friendship, frequently eating together, going to the cinema or theatre or on excursions together."

FOR YEARS, the Communists, as a means of undermining the church, hooted at "bourgeois morality" and backed easy divorce and easy husband and wife mergers. But growing immorality, drunkenness and "hooliganism" forced the Reds to take action.

Moscow already has launched drives against drunkenness and hooliganism, and Poland, probably the hardest drinking of all the Communist nations, went so far as to institute partial prohibition recently. Now Bulgaria attacks the moral problem.

'White Elephants'

It once was the custom of the king of Siam to send a white elephant to a courtier whose fortune he wished to destroy, hence "white elephant" for something one has and does not know what to do with.

Earthquake Detector

The Chinese had a mechanical earthquake detector as early as 130 A.D. It consisted of a copper bowl, around whose rim were set eight dragon heads, each holding a small, delicately balanced copper ball in the tip of its tongue. When jarred, however, slightly, the balls would drop out.

I notice that weekend meat prices are falling. Going back to The Kingston Freeman and Journal of Tuesday, July 4, 1922, Merritt's market at 429 Washington avenue had veal chops for 25 cents a pound. Hamburg steak was 3 pounds for 25 cents. Round pot roasts were 25 cents a pound. You could get all the plate stew beef you wanted for only five cents a pound. You could also get lamb for stew for only a nickel a pound. Butter was 43 cents a pound, with good juicy oranges 20 cents a dozen. Fancy tea was 25 cents a pound. I think it is around 79 cents a pound now. Bulk cocoa was three pounds for 25 cents. Special coffee, all you want, for 20 cents a pound. Those were the good old days.

Some of the other advertisements are interesting too. For instance, The Kingston Trust Co. of 518 Broadway, or corner Main and Fair streets, said in their advertisement, "Where money grows. Deposited in this Trust Co., it will grow at the rate of 4 per cent compound every three months." You could get "Good Hungarian Cooking" at M. L. Frenz, 47 North Front street. A regular old fashioned dinner was 50 cents. Coffee was five cents a cup, and all kinds of sandwiches were 15 cents. Rose-Gorman-Rose were having a sale on July 7 in bathing items. The item read in part: "That new bathing suit is here, in surf satin, all wool jersey, cotton jersey in blacks, navy blue, brown, gray and heather mixture, from $1.59 up. Bathing shoes and sandals in fabric and rubber, 59 cents and up. Water wings, rubba float, $1. to $1.46. Bathing garters were 25 cents and up. Those were the days of long black stockings in the water.

In the July 11, 1922 paper plans were being made for the enlarging of the First National Bank of Rondout at Broadway and Strand. Item read: "The plans contemplate the taking over of the store now occupied by Marks Jacobs, the merchant tailor, at No. 6 Broadway, and the offices of G. L. McEntee and Son, the insurance brokers, Mr. Jacobs will be located upstairs in the same building." McEntee later moved his offices to Ferry street. The plans included the installation of a large new vault and the latest modern banking appliances and improvements. Since then, that bank is no longer there, instead the Home-Seekers' Savings and Loan Assn. is on that corner, and that too is moving.

Businessmen Hear Talk on Valley Industrial Plans

Development of the Hudson Valley as an industrial area was discussed by W. Dale Swartzmiller, regional director of the New York State Department of Commerce at the second annual dinner of the Ulster Albany Avenue Businessmen's Association held Sunday at the Mt. Marion Inn.

More than 60 members and guests heard Mr. Swartzmiller predict a revival of the Hudson river as a natural waterway affording a direct route from Canada to New York city, the world's largest market. He also predicted that within 10 years the Hudson Valley will be developed with new business.

SURVEYS ARE currently being made, Mr. Swartzmiller said, throughout the entire valley for industry to settle in the area. He pointed out that Orange county is growing more rapidly than Ulster county because of its proximity to the New York city market. Industry settles in an area where it will benefit itself, Mr. Swartzmiller said. The Hudson, Catskill, Saugerties and Kingston areas have been mentioned as potential industrial areas, he declared.

Mayor Frederick H. Stang of Kingston, who was toastmaster, congratulated the businessmen on the growth of their organization and predicted that it will double its membership within time because of the rapid growth of the area. He assured the members that the City of Kingston would cooperate to the fullest with the town of Ulster in its progress.

The mayor pointed out that new business establishments are starting all along Albany avenue extension.

Downtown Is

opment. If the new state housing plan were carried through, it would involve an expenditure of many times what urban development would cost the city.

"This, of course, is by-passed by Mr. Yerry, with the thought that it comes from the state, and not from the city direct. In the end, we all participate in expenditures of that character, and they should not be considered where there is no imperative demand."

"Mr. Yerry's so-called new housing referred to, reads like a desperate effort to confuse the situation rather than to clarify it. Our representatives in the Common Council have apparently weighed the arguments, pro and con, and the action, thus far taken, indicates that the conclusions arrived at are fully justified."

THE LATTER statement, Seitz said, refers to recent Common Council authorization of a federal study to determine urban renewal needs for the downtown area. The study is expected to take the greater part of this year, and it can be rejected by the city without cost.

An initial expenditure of $40,000 was authorized for the purpose. It is expected that the redevelopment project, if approved, would provide for both commercial and dwelling units.

ways. The New Jersey Turnpike was closed between Bordentown and the George Washington Bridge over the Hudson river.

A STATE OF emergency was declared in Suffolk county, Long Island. Drifts up to 14 feet deep cut off the eastern tip of the island. Railroad service was knocked out in the area. Several communities had gone without food or fuel deliveries for nearly 48 hours.

By daylight today, however, main roads had been reopened well enough for new shipments of food and fuel to go through. New York city public and parochial schools were closed again today. Many schools also shut their doors in other states.

The Hudson & Manhattan Railroad, out of operation between Jersey City and Newark, N. J., last night, resumed service today.

THE 13.5-INCH snowfall in the New York city area on Sunday and yesterday was the heaviest since Dec. 19, 1948, when the city had a fall of 16.5 inches. The all-time record was 25.8 inches on Dec. 26-27, 1947.

The Sunday-Monday fall in the New York area was on top of the 4.6-inch snowfall of Friday and Saturday—for a total of 18.1 inches.

In the center of the city, however, much of the original fall had disappeared by the time the second storm hit.

NEW YORK businesses suffered an estimated loss of 150 million dollars in the second storm from shutdowns.

The state-by-state death toll in both storms: New York 30, New Jersey 28, Connecticut 13, Rhode Island 10, Massachusetts 26, New Hampshire 1, Maine 6, Pennsylvania 7, Delaware 1, Maryland 3, Virginia 4 and Ohio 12.

Outside the storm-stricken area, clear and fairly pleasant weather was in prospect. However, there was a general cooling from the lower Mississippi valley northeastward to southern New England. Biggest temperature drops were in the southeast, with readings 15 degrees lower than 24 hours earlier. Freezing weather was reported as far southward as northern Alabama.

THERE ALSO was a little cooler weather in sections of the plateau region and along the west coast. But warmer air spread eastward over the plains and upper Mississippi valley with temperatures up to 10 to 15 degrees compared to yesterday morning.

Precipitation this morning included snow flurries over the northern Rockies and widely scattered snow flurries or showers in parts of the southern Ohio valley eastward to the Atlantic.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 3 below zero at Massena, N. Y., to 69 at Key West, Fla. Other reports: Chicago 27 and clear; Pittsburgh 18 and clear; Memphis 33 and clear; New Orleans 44 and clear Miami 60 and clear; Denver 40 and clear; Boise, Idaho, 38 and clear; San Francisco 48 and clear.

Says India . . .

tralia and New Zealand — had joined in the SEATO stand. Pakistan and India also are Commonwealth members.

Nehru's statement contrasted considerably with one by Education Minister Maulana Abul Kalam Azad yesterday that the SEATO reference to Kashmir was "of no importance."

AZAD TOLD a news conference Dulles and the other western leaders had assured the Indian government the SEATO action was only a restatement of past policies and in effect meant the defense organization was not a proper place to discuss Kashmir.

Nehru said his discussions with the representatives of the western Big Three had been most valuable.

"WHERE WE were unable to agree, we agreed to differ," he told Parliament.

Nehru said he had taken up with Dulles the question of U. S. arms aid to Pakistan. He added this American help permitted Pakistan to try to bargain with India from a "position of strength."

Dulles during his visit to New Delhi told a news conference Pakistan would not use the American arms for aggression. He declared that any Pakistan aggression against India would range the United States on India's side in the United Nations and would quickly end good relations between the United States and Pakistan.

Nehru told Parliament the Indian protest to the SEATO members referred to the "unusual procedure adopted by the council."

HE SAID he also discussed the Goa situation with Dulles particularly the statement issued last December by Dulles and Portuguese Foreign Minister Paulo Cunha referring to Goa as Portuguese province. India claims the small territory on the sub-continent is an unwilling colony and should be part of India.

The premier minister said Dulles assured him the United States was not supporting Portugal. Nehru said he did not doubt Dulles words but added: "The position is that the Dulles-Cunha Communiqué is being interpreted, especially by the Portuguese authorities, as if it supported their claims." In an indirect reference to the United States and Britain, Nehru said he hoped "friendly countries will impress upon Portugal the unwisdom" of her policies.

Miller Sets Three Records In Leading State Scoring

BOB MILLER

Bob Miller set three records as he led New Paltz State Teachers College basketball team in scoring for the season just completed.

Miller, a senior from Whitestone, threw in 344 points for a new one-year standard for the Teachers. His 909 points and 17.7 game average for four years of varsity play established two other records.

Playing in all his team's 16 games, the State center flipped in 112 field goals and connected for 120 free throws. His campaign average was a scintillating 21.5.

Richard King, also a senior, set a record for the greatest number of games played for four years, 65. King wound up fourth among the scorers, netting 129 points for an 8.1 per game mark.

Runnerup scoring honors were won by Frank Buckley with 188 points and an 11.8 average. John Hussnatter was third with 171 and 12.2 and John Godwin, former Kingston High star, fourth, with 141 and a nifty 14.1 average.

State went over the century mark twice during the campaign. On Feb. 24, they scored 104 points against Waterbury College of Connecticut to erase a record set in '52 and two weeks later tallied 111 in their finale versus the Alumni.

Coach Loren Campbell directed the Hawks to a highly successful 11-5 season. This marked the 19th year of cage coaching for Campbell, and in that time his teams have compiled a creditable record of 162 wins and 132 losses.

TEAMS OPEN their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series tonight and the Canadiens, National Hockey League regular season champions, are heavy favorites to defeat the third-place New Yorkers.

In Detroit second-place Detroit meets fourth-place Toronto in the other semi-final.

"When you talk of a short series—well, a short series doesn't sound particularly appealing to us," said Patrick.

"WE KNOW what we are up against meeting this Montreal Club and our chances certainly would be better in a long series. We have a good club ourselves, don't mistake that, and we are figuring on ways we may be able to sidetrack the Canadiens."

Muzz wouldn't disclose, what sort of plans he and Coach Phil Watson have conjured up.

He hoped his team could get a few breaks, at the same time making a minimum of mistakes.

BOWLING SCORES

Ernie Bartoff anchored Augustine's in the Men's Junior Major with a hefty 659 league-leading series in last night action at the Central Rec.

Bartoff drilled 167, 249 and 243 for the big triple.

Tom Sickler blasted a 278, high for the season in the City Minor League, for the evening's runnerup honors. Sickler tapered off a wee bit after the big slam, hitting 179 and 193.

St. Lawrence Coach Shifts to Cornell Post

Canton, N. Y., March 20 (P)—Paul E. Patten, St. Lawrence University varsity football and hockey coach, will become freshman football coach at Cornell Aug. 1.

It also is expected that Patten, whose appointment was disclosed yesterday, will become hockey coach when Cornell resumes that sport on the varsity level in 1957.

A graduate of Notre Dame University, Patten has been on the St. Lawrence faculty since 1947.

Sports Center Gets Initial Approval

Albany, N. Y., March 20 (P)—Legislation to establish a new home for the Brooklyn Dodgers reached first base last night but Assemblymen did a lot of heckling from the stands.

The Assembly voted 114-32 to let New York city create a Brooklyn sports center authority, which would finance the project with 30 million dollars worth of bonds. A similar bill is before the Senate.

THE BILL rode through heavy going in debate. Assemblyman Daniel Kelly, Manhattan Democrat, said it would be like giving money to stockholders of the world champion Dodgers.

He said if this "bad precedent" were set, the Giants and Yankees might clamor for similar treatment.

Democratic Assemblyman Lawrence P. Murphy of Brooklyn described it as a bill to "remedy a deplorable situation." He pointed out that the sports center would replace the dilapidated commercial building, some of which he said were a menace to the community.

QUEEN'S ASSEMBLYMAN Louis Wallach called the legislation "a poorly concealed scheme to bribe the Dodgers to stay in Brooklyn."

The Dodgers, who say they've outgrown Ebbets Field, hope to move into the big sports center some day. It would be erected on a 500-acre tract to be cleared in the Flatbush Avenue-Long Island Road Station area.

Dayton Makes Debut Tonight

Defending Champs Duquesne Eliminated From Garden NIT

New York, March 20 (P)—

Dayton's top-seeded flyers, determined to go all the way for a change, move into action against self-crippled Xavier of Cincinnati tonight in the final half of the quarter finals in the National Invitation Basketball tournament. Defending champion Duquesne and fourth-seeded Niagara already are among the missing.

The Dayton, who three times have wound up second best in the NIT, and Xavier go at it for the third time this season in the nightcap of the Madison Square Garden doubleheader. Third-seeded St. Joseph's of Philadelphia plays Seton Hall in the opener.

THE DAYTON-XAVIER winner will meet St. Francis of Brooklyn, which ousted Niagara with sheer hustle 74-72 in overtime last night in Thursday's semi-finals. The other semi-final will pair the St. Joseph's-Seton Hall survivor against second-seeded Louisville, which looked a bit shabby but clicked when it had to in eliminating Duquesne 84-72.

Scrappy St. Francis blew an 8-point lead with 3 minutes left in regulation time because of a reluctance to play it safe, but finally got home free on a jump shot by George Fox with 4 seconds left in the overtime.

It was the lone score of the 5-minute extra session following an unaccustomed freeze up for 3 1/2 minutes by the terriers.

COACH DANNY Lynch, who scoffs at possession tactics, was "still shaking" afterward in the dressing room and admitted he told St. Francis to "go out and play the game" as the overtime started.

"But after a minute and a half, I thought we've got a game to win, so I told them to hold the ball."

"No, I'm no mastermind. Fox wasn't supposed to take the last shot. I told 'em to give it to either Les Yellin or Tony D'Elia (the Terriers' outcourt snipers) or Al Inniss."

BUT DAN MANNIX spotted Fox open and gave him the payoff pass.

Tonight's nightcap might have been a dandy, with Xavier rarin' for another shot at Dayton and 7-foot Bill Uhl after losing twice to the flyers during the regular season. But with leading scorer Dave Piontek booted for violating training rules after Saturday's 84-80 victory over St. Louis, Musketeer hopes are dumped on 5-7 Jimmy Boothe, a capable set shot, and 6-6 Soph Frank Tartaron.

Seton Hall breezed into tonight's quarter final by pasting Marquette 96-78 in the first round. The Pirates can hustle and might send St. Joseph's experienced crew to the sidelines with Niagara.

NBA Playoffs Are Tied As Nats and Lakers Win

(By The Associated Press)

Both the eastern and western division quarter-finals of the National Basketball Assn. playoffs were deadlocked today and both winners will be decided tomorrow night in Boston and Minneapolis.

The Syracuse Nationals defeated the Boston Celtics 101-98, in Syracuse to tie the eastern division, and the Minneapolis Lakers turned back the St. Louis Hawks 133-75 to square the western section last night.

ALL THE teams now have won one game. The winner of the Syracuse-Boston series meets the Philadelphia Warriors, the eastern division winners, in one semi-final, while the victor of the Minneapolis-St. Louis set goes against the Port Wayne Pistons, who won the western title, in the other semi-final.

John Kerr was high man in the Nats' triumph over Boston with 23 points but the main reason the Celtics went down was the failure of Bill Sharman and Ed Macauley to come through. Sharman had only eight points and Macauley had three.

BOB COUSY, the third member of the murderers' row, packed in 28 points for the Celtics, but he couldn't do it all alone.

The Lakers cracked two NBA records in the process of licking the Hawks.

The result was the most decisive margin in league history and all 10 members of the Laker team scored in the double figures. Charlie Mencil, Whitey Skoog and Vern Mikkelsen barely made it with 10 points apiece.

Tuesday's Schedule No games scheduled. Monday's Results Syracuse 101, Boston 98 (best-of-3 quarter finals tied, 1-1). Minneapolis 133, St. Louis 75 (best-of-3 quarter finals tied, 1-1).

Wednesday's Schedule St. Louis at Minneapolis. Syracuse at Boston.

Tourney Resumes Tonight

Action resumes tonight in the Kingston Basketball Tournament with the popular Pine Plains Bombardiers and Culver Motors of Port Jervis meeting in the 7:30 opener and the Amsterdam Vagabonds versus Ketterston's Motors of Newburgh in the afterpiece.

Six teams have already been eliminated from the select 18-team tourney which opened March 13. Survivors of opening round play include Sickler's Delivery, defending champions, Affron's Oilers of Newburgh, Backs Cedaraps, Wappingers Falls PBA, Poughkeepsie Trassos, in addition to Culver Motors.

Pine Plains comes in with another star-studded aggregation headed by Timmy Hill, all-time Siena College scoring leader. Also set to go are Skip Brodhead, Tom Murphy, Richie Moran, Bill Martin and others.

Port made a good showing in walloping Reddy's Kilowatts of Newburgh Sunday night. The boys from the banks of the Neversink are led by player-coach Bob Habig, who tallied 33 against the Hill City five.

Ketterston's, a perennial power in the Newburgh City League, boasts such stalwarts as 6-5 Ed Gabron, Bob Early and Matty Chrystal, all of NFA fame.

Little is known about the Vags, but word has it that they are a team to be reckoned with.

Rookies in Spotlight

Many Freshman Ballplayers Impressive in Exhibitions

(By The Associated Press)

There may not be a Ted Williams or a Robin Roberts among the freshman ballplayers currently showing their wares in exhibition games.

But from the likes of Pat Scantlebury, Jack Taylor, Jim Pisoni, Sam Esposito, Norm Siebern, Bob McKee, Floyd Ross and Dick Tettelbach is liable to come the leading candidates for this year's rookie-of-the-year citations.

SCANTLEBURY, a lefthander who won 13 games and lost 9 for Havana in 1955, gave up only two hits in five innings and Taylor, 17-11 for high-point-Thomasville of the Carolina League, yielded two in four frames yesterday in pitching the Cincinnati Redlegs to a 5-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Taylor allowed both runs, which came on Dale Long's seventh inning homer.

Pisoni, the Texas League's leader in runs batted in last year with 118, slammed two home runs and two singles to lead the Baltimore Orioles to an 8-6 triumph over the New York Giants. On outfielder, Pisoni hit 270 for San Antonio but he walloped 26 circuit blows.

ESPOSITO, FORMER baseball and basketball star for Indiana University, singled to score Jim Rivera and give the Chicago White Sox a 14-13 decision over the Kansas City A's.

A returning serviceman, Siebern continued to impress New York Yankees Manager Casey Stengel. He hit one of the Yanks' three home runs as the American League champions clobbered the Milwaukee Braves 11-1. Joe Collins and Bill Sokwron got the others.

McKee, a second baseman for Des Moines where he hit .278 with 14 home runs, landed one of four Cubs' homers as the Cleveland Indians went down to their first defeat in eight games 9-5. Frank Kellert, Monte Irvin and Ernie Banks also found the range for Chicago.

ROSS, A LEFTY who was 10-13 for Chattanooga, worked four scoreless innings for the Philadelphia Phillies as they edged the St. Louis Cards 4-3. Jim Westlake and Marv Blaylock homered for the winners, while Stan Musial and Kenny Boyer connected for the Cards.

Tettelbach, acquired from the Yankees in the Mickey McDermott deal this winter, got two singles and a double in leading the Washington Senators to an 8-6 triumph over the Boston Red Sox.

Dick Williams, up from Fort Worth where he hit .317, slammed a three-run homer for the Brooklyn Dodgers as they downed the Detroit Tigers 13-10. Sandy Koufax was the winning pitcher.

Nocero Decisions Khelfa in Ring

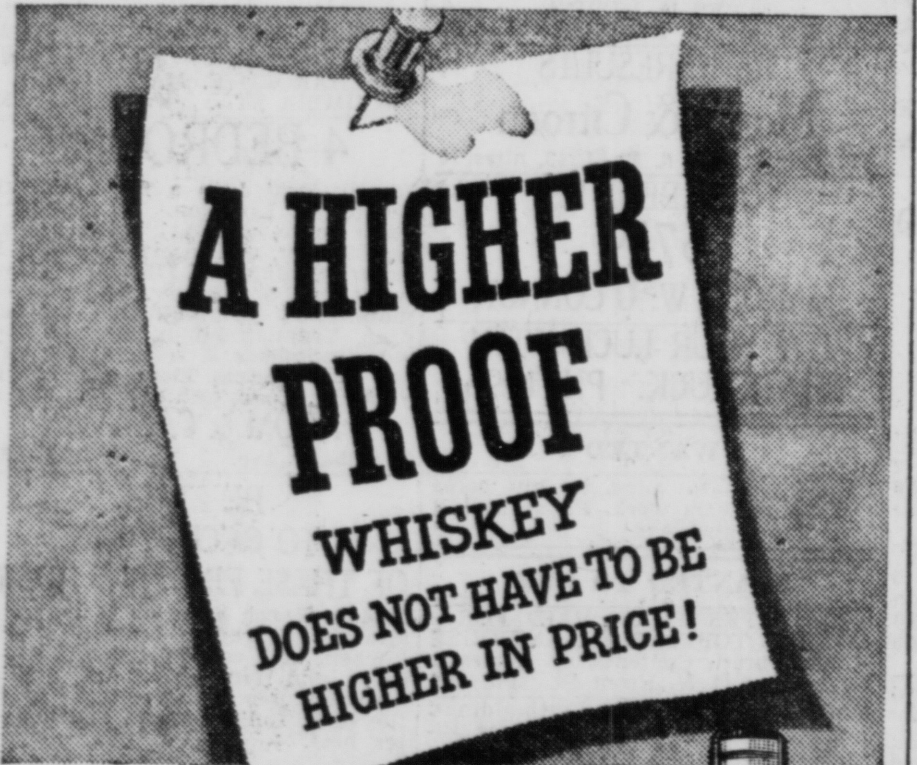

New York, March 20 (AP)—For eleventh hour substitutes, Rinzi Nocero of Brooklyn and Said Khelfa of Algeria put on a good show at St. Nicholas arena last night.

Nocero, a husky, 24-year-old middleweight, won a unanimous 10-round decision and the lanky 5-11 Algerian earned the applause of the fans for his willingness to mix.

The two were called in about nine hours before fight time to replace a featherweight match between Miguel Berrios of New York and Bobby Bell of Youngstown, Ohio. Berrios reported to the commission with a heavy cold and was excused. Matchmaker Tex Sullivan couldn't find another featherweight on short notice and subbed the middleweights instead for the televised main event.

Nocero weighed 164 to Krelfa's 169½.

Ends fear of blowouts!
Ends fear of punctures!
Ends fear of skids!
Gives longer, safer mileage than any other tire!

Now from Firestone comes the automatic safety tire... the new Firestone Supreme. It gives you and your family protection never before provided in any tire at any price. It's the first and only tire with built-in peace of mind!

Blowout Safe! Should a blowout occur, an automatic safety valve closes in the life protector and retains ¾ of the air. This lets you ride out a blowout without swerving and come safely to a straight-line stop. This is built-in peace of mind.

Puncture Safe! This tire has a special gummy rubber sealant that seals any puncture the instant it occurs—makes it completely puncture-safe. No more delays, no more fear of changing tires on a busy highway. This is built-in peace of mind.

Skid Safe! It won't skid, swerve, or slide like ordinary tires. Takes danger out of driving on pavements wet with rain or snow. And this exclusive tread is silent—won't hum on the highway. Won't squeal on the corners. This is built-in peace of mind.

Thousands of Extra Miles! The rugged all-nylon cord body runs cooler, provides better balance. Together with 25% thicker tread, it gives you the longest mileage of any tire. Will, in all probability, last longer than you own your car. This is built-in peace of mind.

Transferred by the enemy to China at the close of the Korean war, the Zellers were sent home via the Trans-Siberian railways through Europe.

To Compare Dairy Farm Figures at March 28 Meeting

At a dairy farm management meeting to be held at the Extension Service office, 74 John street, Wednesday, March 28, dairymen will have an opportunity to compare their dairy farm business with other dairy farms in the Hudson valley. The meeting will be from 10:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m.

Among the factors under discussion will be: Capital investment, labor income, pounds of milk sold per man, feed bought as per cent of farm expenses, machinery cost, pounds of milk sold per cow.

This meeting will also give an opportunity to study changes taking place in Ulster county as indicated by the recent Agricultural Census.
